Every time you are in the internet you are reading something which further strengthens your grasp on English. The thing I have applied to you from here is another thing you must do when learning French: surround yourself with French. You can do this by listening to French music, watching French movies, or talking to French speakers. The more you listen to French, the more you will learn. Don't be afraid to make mistakes. Learning French is a journey, and it's okay to take your time. Find a way to make the learning process fun for you. If you are learning with a friend, study together and practice speaking French with each other. Don't be afraid to ask for help. You may be wondering where to find French resources. There are many websites and books available. I will tell you that the book will make it easier to use French resources. French conjunctions, pronouns, adjectives, nouns, adverbs, verbs, greetings, and numbers are all part of the French language. French family names are also important. French grammar is not too difficult, and it's worth learning. French music, sports, and general culture are also interesting. French technology, set phrases, and modems are also part of the language. So what are you waiting for? Let's start learning French now.
