Mendenhall,Ming Li,2018-12-03 This volume of Advances in Global Leadership updates researchers and practitioners on the state of the field and research gaps Part 1 presents new empirical studies Part II features papers on global leadership development programs offered by universities Contributors range from well known voices to new scholars with fresh perspectives The Study and Practice of Global Leadership Gama Perruci,2022-03-07 The first book in this three part mini series is dedicated to the connection between globalization and the field of leadership The book is divided into three parts The Connection between Leadership and the Global Context The Impact of Globalization on the Study of Leadership and The Impact of Globalization on the Practice of Leadership An Evaluation Study of the Effectiveness of a U.S.-based Global Leadership Development Program Elaine C. Kho,2001 Global Leadership 2e Joyce Osland,Allan Bird,Gary R. Oddou,Martha L Maznevski,Michael Stevens,Günter K. Stahl,2013-05-07 Global leadership has been frequently heralded by writers and executives as the key to sustained competitive advantage on the part of organizations. In addition, it is clear that the possession of leadership qualities and the display of leader behavior are requirements for individuals attempting to progress in their careers. It is important for aspiring managers to learn about the nature of effective global leadership and how they can develop their own competencies in this area. This textbook provides an important overview of this key emerging area within business and management. Offering a view into the nature of global leadership and the competencies necessary for aspiring managers to succeed, Global Leadership is essential reading for students of leadership, organizational theory, strategic management, human resource management, and for anyone working and managing in the global arena. Now in its second edition, it draws from recent research to both contemporize timeless topics and address today's relevant topics from corporate social responsibility to cultural competencies to current technology.

Global Leadership Competencies In Selected Adult Education Graduate Programs In The United States And Western Europe Arthur Ray Mccrory, 2016. Multiple curricular and co-curricular themes emerged as best practices to facilitate development of the global leadership competencies, although they were primarily associated with good instructional practices discussed within the context of globalizing the curriculum. There was less discussion about the competencies within a unifying construct of leadership development. Similarities across all cases included a focus on student-centered learning, while differences were primarily associated with the independent foci of the adult education graduate programs. Implications of the findings were directed towards the CPAE university administration, adult education faculty, and adult education graduate students.

What Is Global Leadership? Ernest Gundling, Terry Hogan, Karen Cvitkovich, 2011-05-24. Discover the skill set and mindset that great global leaders must have to succeed. What is global leadership? It turns out that many companies around the world are missing a key point: that global leadership is distinctly different from the leadership skills needed in a domestic operation. The global economy requires a new set of leadership skills imbued with a global mindset, multi-functional and effective across cultures and nationalities that were not as critical even a decade ago. In What Is Global Leadership, the authors draw on cutting-edge research conducted by Aperian Global, including first-hand interviews with successful global leaders, which highlights ten key behaviors critical to international settings, such as cultural self-awareness, frame-shifting, and developing third-way solutions. In addition to providing a detailed description of each behavior, the authors demonstrate how these can be applied in the context of leadership development programs, executive coaching, global teams, and leader-led action learning. Whether one is leading an entire organization, a business unit, or a geographically dispersed team, this essential guide provides an important resource for developing global leadership talent.

Global Leadership Mark E. Mendenhall, Allan Bird, Joyce Osland, Gary R. Oddou, Michael J. Stevens, Günter K. Stahl, Martha L. Maznevski, 2017. This text offers a comprehensive up-to-date view of the global leadership field. Focusing on leading across cultural, economic, social, national, and political boundaries simultaneously, Global Leadership presents the field's latest studies and practices in a succinct and engaging style that helps students grasp the complexities of being a global leader Advances in Global Leadership William H. Mobley, 2003 Understanding the Development of Global Leadership Competencies Andrea L. McMullen, 2021 As businesses seek to gain a competitive advantage in a rapidly evolving global marketplace and in the midst of a global talent shortage the demand is increasing for guidance surrounding the development of global leaders Although competency model frameworks have existed since the 1970s the process of how an organization develops Global Leadership Competencies GLCs has not been well documented particularly in new and evolving industries such as the biosciences Furthermore despite the time effort and money spent on learning and development or training programs there are no studies that investigate employer learner perceptions regarding the alignment of these learning programs with the GLC models designed to develop employees as transdisciplinary global leaders This case study takes a modest step in filling that void by exploring a unique problem in the bioscience industry where scientists and business people are being cross trained to bridge the gaps in their respective areas of disciplinary expertise Among other factors employee learner perceptions regarding the impact of a learning program on their GLC development were studied to gain a better understanding of how employees make sense of their own development and apply GLCs in their work The participant sample consisted of 714 responses included in the learning program evaluation data as well as 14 purposefully selected individuals for in depth interviews A review of documents included course syllabi learning objectives field observation notes competency framework materials and course level evaluation data The document review informed this study s analysis of aggregate learning program evaluation data and the in depth interviews The findings of this study connected complementary streams of literature related to GLCs Theoretical frameworks associated with leadership learning and transdisciplinarity were explored to gain a better understanding of how organizations and individuals develop GLCs The significance of this study is applicable across a diversity of sectors especially when considering whether to build or buy the talent needed for organizations to be successful Not only does this study contribute to the nascent field of global leadership and the emergent biosciences industry it extends theory and applied research with a scalable methodology for other comparative work The World Economic Forum's Global Leadership Fellows Program Eric Baldwin, 2013 GLP14 Singapore University of Technology and Design, 2014 Young Global Leaders Psalm Ebube, 2021-01-09 Young Global Leaders is a must read for aspiring teenagers youth and young adults as it offers a tested and proven guide for the big decisions that high school kids college students young professionals and entrepreneurs face today With a pragmatic approach to global leadership and innovation practical solutions for National transformation The timely book has a special focus on Corporations Governance and Nation Building a critical resource for now and future leaders Psalm Ebube s personal stories of working with a multinational organization leadership experiences as the National Statesman For youth to ICN USA and his concluding advice in this book provide invaluable guidance and direction for any ambitious youth who aspires to lead and have a disproportionate impact in the decades ahead especially
