Serena, Jerry M. Sollinger, 2013 In the U S Army as elsewhere transmission of digitized packets on Internet protocol and space based networks is rapidly supplanting the use of old technology e g dedicated analog channels when it comes to information sharing and media broadcasting As the Army moves forward with these changes it will be important to identify the implications and potential boundaries of cyberspace operations An examination of network operations information operations and the more focused areas of electronic warfare signals intelligence electromagnetic spectrum operations public affairs and psychological operations in the U S military found significant overlap that could inform the development of future Army doctrine in these areas In clarifying the prevailing boundaries between these areas of interest it is possible to predict the progression of these boundaries in the near future The investigation also entailed developing new definitions that better capture this overlap for such concepts as information warfare This is important because the Army is now studying ways to apply its cyber power and is reconsidering doctrinally defined areas that are integral to operations in cyberspace It will also be critical for the Army to approach information operations with a plan to organize and if possible consolidate its operations in two realms the psychological which is focused on message content and people and the technological which is focused on content delivery and machines Page 4 of cover

The Right to Life in Armed Conflict Ian Park, 2018-02-02 The application of the right to life during armed conflict is an issue that polarizes opinion and generates considerable debate Many believe that human rights law has no place in armed conflict yet the European Court of Human Rights and domestic courts have ruled that it can apply The exact contours of how the right to life applies during armed conflict remain largely unresolved In this text Ian Park seeks to clearly articulate the right to life obligations of states during both international and non international armed conflict in respect of those individuals affected by the actions of states armed forces and members of the armed forces themselves In determining the right to life obligations of states Park identifies the sources of law from which right to life obligations arise how case law has developed and modified these obligations and analyses how the law creates obligations in practice Implicit in this analysis is a consideration of recent armed conflicts and the actions of states that lead to a series of concrete proposals designed to best ensure compliance with a state s right to life obligations

Intelligence and Propaganda in the Cases of Bosnia and Herzegovina and Afghanistan Murat Aslan, 2022-06-20 This book questions the efficiency of propaganda and the affiliated intelligence functions of international organisations by sampling NATO and to some extent the UN in peace operations It examines NATO operations in Bosnia Herzegovina and Afghanistan in detail as comparative analysis and considers the commitment of the US military since this is the main driver of the bulk of NATO activities In addition the book covers the communication and intelligence activities of the opposing elements in both Bosnia and Afghanistan to offer another comparative approach

Cyber and Chemical, Biological, Radiological, Nuclear,

Explosives Challenges Maurizio Martellini, Andrea Malizia, 2017-10-30 This book covers the security and safety of CBRNE assets and management and illustrates which risks may emerge and how to counter them through an enhanced risk management approach. It also tackles the CBRNE Cyber threats, their risk mitigation measures and the relevance of raising awareness and education enforcing a CBRNE Cyber security culture. The authors present international instruments and legislation to deal with these threats, for instance the UNSCR1540. The authors address a multitude of stakeholders and have a multidisciplinary nature dealing with cross-cutting areas like the convergence of biological and chemical, the development of edging technologies and in the cyber domain the impelling risks due to the use of malwares against critical subsystems of CBRN facilities. Examples are provided in this book. Academicians, diplomats, technicians and engineers working in the chemical, biological, radiological, nuclear, explosive and cyber fields will find this book valuable as a reference. Students studying in these related fields will also find this book useful as a reference. The Conduct of War in the 21st Century

Rob Johnson, Martijn Kitzen, Tim Sweijts, 2021-03-02 This book examines the key dimensions of 21st century war and shows that orthodox thinking about war, particularly what it is and how it is fought, needs to be updated. Accelerating societal, economic, political and technological change affects how we prepare, equip and organise for war, as well as how we conduct war, both in its low-tech and high-tech forms and whether it is with high intensity or low intensity. The volume examines changes in warfare by investigating the key features of the conduct of war during the first decades of the 21st century. Conceptually centred around the terms kinetic, connected and synthetic, the analysis delves into a wide range of topics. The contributions discuss hybrid warfare, cyber and influence activities, machine learning and artificial intelligence, the use of armed drones and air power, the implications of the counterinsurgency experiences in Iraq, Afghanistan and Syria, as well as the consequences for lawfare and decision making. This work will be of much interest to students of military and strategic studies, security studies and International Relations. Chapters 1, 2, 5 and 19 of this book are freely available as downloadable Open Access PDFs at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivatives (CC BY-NC-ND 4.0) license. Civil-Military Cooperation in International Interventions Agata Mazurkiewicz, 2022-03-31

This book investigates the challenges related to civil-military cooperation (CIMIC) and offers a new perspective by examining the social role of NATO CIMIC soldiers. The intertwining of the civilian and military spheres has become a significant part of the contemporary security environment. However, the relationship between the military and civilian actors is often troubled, filled with misunderstandings and rivalry. In their duty to provide a link between the military and diverse civilian environment, soldiers involved in CIMIC are exposed to varied, often conflicted expectations that make up their social role and put stress on their performance and the effectiveness of CIMIC. By drawing on analysis of NATO CIMIC documents and a series of interviews with CIMIC soldiers, the author is able to first identify the elements of the CIMIC role and second, diagnose the inherent role conflict and describe methods of dealing with it. Looking at civil-military cooperation through this lens reveals new layers of challenges that impact its effectiveness and a better way to understand the complexity of civil military interaction This book will be of much interest to students of military studies military sociology peacekeeping security studies and international relations as well as military practitioners Revista militar ,2006 Aerospace Electronic Warfare Doctrine Canada.
