The Practical Real-Time Enterprise Bernd Kuglin, Heinz Thielmann, 2005-08-15 Speed as a factor for success Our modern industrial society lives life in the fast lane The catchwords faster shorter more powerful reflect what we experience in almost all aspects of our lives Whether at home or at work we are constantly on the move and in a rush In our private lives we find rapid exchange of information most entertaining and we are fascinated by the wide range of information that pours in on us from all around the world mainly via the new media It gives us the feeling of being a part of the action everywhere and all the time Seldom are we aware that the only reason this flood of information often referred to as overstimulation does not lead to overkill is that we manage to organize our time effectively There are many parallels to this in the business world Here too a great deal of time pressure is exerted from outside goals are set ever higher and deadlines become tighter In other words demands on our time demand faster reaction Crucial information travels around the globe across all time zones in a matter of seconds In fact instead of CET or CEST it would make sense to have a single time zone for the worldwide network called GST for Global Simultaneous Time In business more so than in p vate life we are almost constantly online Look Who's Watching, Revised Edition Fen Osler Hampson, Eric Jardine, 2017-11-08 The Internet ecosystem is held together by a surprisingly intangible glue trust To meet its full potential users need to trust that the Internet works reliably and efficiently when providing them with the information they are seeking while also being secure private and safe When trust in the Internet wanes the network s stock of digital social capital falls and users begin to alter their online behaviour These often subtle changes in behaviour tend to be collectively highly maladaptive hindering the economic developmental and innovative potential of the globe spanning network of networks Look Who s Watching Surveillance Treachery and Trust Online confirms in vivid detail that the trust placed by users in the Internet is increasingly misplaced Edward Snowden s revelations that the United States National Security Agency and other government agencies are spying on Internet users the proliferation of cybercrime and the growing commodification of user data and regulatory changes which threaten to fragment the system are all rapidly eroding the confidence users have in the Internet ecosystem Based on a combination of illustrative anecdotal evidence and analysis of new survey data Look Who s Watching clearly demonstrates why trust matters how it is being eroded and how with care and deliberate policy action the essential glue of the Internet can be restored
