Up from Slavery; an Unfinished Journey Archie Morris III D.P.A., 2019-03-21 For a period of eighty five years the M Street Dunbar High School was an academically elite all black public high school in Washington DC As far back as 1899 its students came in first in citywide tests given in both black and white schools Over this eighty five year span approximately 80 percent of M Street Dunbar s graduates went on to college even though most Americans white or black did not attend college at all Faculty and students were mutually respectful to one another and disruptions in the classroom were not tolerated Yet in this era of best practices this public high school has received virtually no attention in the literature or in policy considerations for inner city education The Dunbar High School today with its new building and athletic facilities is just another ghetto school with abysmal standards and low test score results despite the District of Columbia s record of having some of the country s highest levels of money spent per pupil The purpose of this study is to explore the history of a high school that was successful in teaching black children from low income families and to determine if the learning model employed there could be successful in a modern inner city public education environment

Degrees of Freedom William D. Green, 2015-05-01 The true story and the black citizens behind the evolution of racial equality in Minnesota He had just given a rousing speech to a packed assembly in St Paul but Frederick Douglass confidant to the Great Emancipator and conscience of the Republican Party was denied a hotel room because he was black This was Minnesota in 1873 four years after the state had approved black suffrage a state where freedom meant being unshackled from slavery but not social restrictions where equality meant access to the ballot but not to a restaurant downtown Spanning the half century after the Civil War Degrees of Freedom draws a rare picture of black experience in a northern state and of the nature of black discontent and action within a predominantly white ostensibly progressive society William D Green reveals little known historical characters among the black men and women who moved to Minnesota following the Fifteenth Amendment worked as farmhands and laborers built communities such as Pig s Eye Landing later renamed St Paul businesses and a newspaper the Western Appeal and embodied the slow but inexorable advancement of race relations in the state over time Within this absorbing often surprising narrative we meet ordinary citizens like former slave and early settler Jim Thompson and black barbers catering to a white clientele but also personages of national stature such as Frederick Douglass Booker T Washington and W E B Du Bois all of whom championed civil rights in Minnesota And we see how in a state where racial prejudice and oppression wore a liberal mask black settlers and entrepreneurs politicians and activists maneuvered within a restricted political arena to bring about real and lasting change
