Drum, 2007 Public Service Broadcasting in the Age of Globalization Indrajit Banerjee, Kalinga Seneviratne, 2006 Takes a scholarly perspective aimed at creating debate about the role and function of public service broadcasting at a time that it is facing a variety of threats from governments and from commercialization of broadcasting This book gives a global perspective on the state of public service broadcasting in the age of globalization Namibia Trade Directory, 2000 The Mirror E.N.O. Provencal, 1997-06-28 East London and Border, 2000 , Media Law in Botswana Charles Manga Fombad, Tachilisa Badala Balule, 2018-06-13 Derived from the renowned multi volume International Encyclopaedia of Laws this analysis of media law in Botswana surveys the massively altered and enlarged legal landscape traditionally encompassed in laws pertaining to freedom of expression and regulation of communications Everywhere a shift from mass media to mass self communication has put enormous pressure on traditional law models An introduction describing the main actors and salient aspects of media markets is followed by in depth analyses of print media radio and television broadcasting the Internet commercial communications political advertising concentration in media markets and media regulation Among the topics that arise for discussion are privacy cultural policy protection of minors competition policy access to digital gateways protection of journalists sources standardization and interoperability and liability of intermediaries Relevant case law is considered throughout as are various ethical codes A clear comprehensive overview of media legislation case law and doctrine presented from the practitioner s point of view this book is a valuable time saving resource for all concerned with media and communication freedom Lawyers representing parties with interests in Botswana will welcome this very useful guide and academics and researchers will appreciate its value in the study of comparative media law Media, Identity and the Public Sphere in Post-Apartheid South Africa Abebe Zegeye, Richard L. Harris, 2021-11-22 The essays in this collection reveal that the social and political development of post apartheid South Africa depends to an important degree on the evolving cultural social and political identities of its diverse population and on the role of the media of mass communications in the country s new multicultural democracy The popular struggle against the country s former apartheid regime and the on going democratisation of South African politics have generated enormous creativity and inspiration as well as many contradictions and unfulfilled expectations In the present

period of social transformation the legacy of the country's past is both a source of continuing conflict and tension as well as a cause for celebration and hope Post apartheid South Africa provides an important case study of social transformation and how the cultural social and political identities of a diverse population and the structure and practices of the media of mass communications affect the prospects for developing a multicultural democracy The promise and the challenge of building a multicultural democratic society in a country with a racist and violent authoritarian legacy involves people with different identities and interests learning how to respect their differences and to live together in peace It involves developing an inclusive or overarching common identity and a commitment to working together for a common destiny based on social equity and justice South Africa's media of mass communications have an important role to play in the process of unprecedented social transformation both in developing the respect for differences and the overarching identity as well as providing the public forum and the channels of communication needed for the successful development of the country's multicultural democracy In South Africa the democratization of the media must go hand in hand with the democratization of the political system in order to ensure that the majority of the citizenry participate effectively in the country's multicultural democracy Topics covered include The Struggle for African Identity Thabo Mbeki's African Renaissance Between the Local and the Global South African Languages and the Internet Shooting the East Veils and Masks Uncovering Orientalism in South African Media and Black and White in Ink Discourses of Resistance in South African Cartooning Contributors are Pal Ahluwalia Gabeba Baderoon Richard L Harris Sean Jacobs Elizabeth Le Roux Andy Mason Thembisa Mjwacu Herman Wasserman and Abebe Zegeye

The Future of Television in the Global South George Ogola, 2023-04-11 This book explores how television in the global South is future proofing its continued relevance addressing its commercial social and political viability in a constantly changing information ecosystem The chapter contributions in the book are drawn from countries in East South and West Africa the Middle East and Latin America specially selected for their illustrative potential of the key issues addressed in the book Scholarly attention on television in the global South has largely been limited to studying evolving television formats with broader structural issues covered almost entirely by industry reports Major gaps remain in terms of understanding how television in the global South is changing within the context of the significant technological developments and what this means for television's future's The chapters reflect on these futures not in the sense of predicting what these might be but rather anticipating important areas of intellection The contributors contend that much of the scholarship on the global South by scholars from the South is often stilted by a reluctance to anticipate This failure leads to a largely reactionary scholarship constantly oppositional and unable to recentre conversations on the South This volume finds intellectual incentive in this urgent need to anticipate hence its particular focus on television futures Taking television in the global South as an important cultural and political barometer the book seeks to explore how television in the global South is adapting to the rampant technological changes and processes of globalisation

The Report: South Africa 2012

,2012 Tribute ,2000 Dangerous Technologies Brandaan Huigen,2025-11-10 Dangerous Technologies focuses on the prevalent theft of consumer electronics in post Apartheid South Africa Through a material culture perspective it explores why these objects have commonly been targeted by bandits and subsequently circulated through the criminal underground The author traces ethnographically how devices travel between various social spheres delving into the experiences of a range of individuals from diverse residents who fall victim to criminals to the bandits who steal electronics for money or drugs the African migrants who export consignments of stolen electronics to their home countries the envious residents who buy stolen electronics and finally the police attempting to grapple with the problem Dangerous Technologies suggests that electronics have widened digital divides between citizens resulting in underground circuits that seek to violently redistribute enviable electronics to low income residents who have not been able to formally participate in electronics consumption and use Due to porous borders the widespread theft and redistribution of electronics do not only stem from internal inequalities within South African society but also from broader disparities across the African continent The book furthers knowledge about how and why particularly modern electronics have precipitated violent property crime in democratic South Africa It is relevant to scholars of social and cultural anthropology particularly those with an interest in material culture digital anthropology and economic and political anthropology as well as criminologists Brandfaces ,2007 The Economic Review ,1997

Cable & Satellite Yearbook ,2004 Mass Media, Towards the Millennium Arrie De Beer,1998 The premise of this book was to offer a functional perspective on the basic elements and some of the major issues of mass communication as it pertains to this country The African Film Industry UNESCO,2021-10-01 The production and distribution of film and audiovisual works is one of the most dynamic growth sectors in the world Thanks to digital technologies production has been growing rapidly in Africa in recent years For the first time a complete mapping of the film and audiovisual industry in 54 States of the African continent is available including quantitative and qualitative data and an analysis of their strengths and weaknesses at the continental and regional levels The report proposes strategic recommendations for the development of the film and audiovisual sectors in Africa and invites policymakers professional organizations firms filmmakers and artists to implement them in a concerted manner Daily Graphic Elvis D. Aryeh,1997-06-27 The Routledge Companion to Global Television Shawn Shimpach,2019-10-29 Featuring scholarly perspectives from around the globe and drawing on a legacy of television studies but with an eye toward the future this authoritative collection examines both the thoroughly global nature of television and the multiple and varied experiences that constitute television in the twenty first century Companion chapters include original essays by some of the leading scholars of television studies as well as emerging voices engaging television on six continents offering readers a truly global range of perspectives The volume features multidisciplinary analyses that offer models and guides for the study of global television with approaches focused on the theories audiences content culture and institutions of television A wide array of examples and case studies engage the transforming practices technologies systems and texts constituting television around the world today providing readers with a contemporary and multi faceted perspective In this volume editor Shawn Shimpach has brought together an essential guide to understanding television in the world today how it works and what it means perfect for students scholars and anyone else interested in television global media studies and beyond
