Europe's Economic Future Sabine Urban, Wolfgang Billmann, 1994 The present work is the first volume in a series devoted to an evolving Europe it is the expression of a political will expressed by Strasbourg's Robert Schuman University and implemented by one of its components the center for research CESAG of the IECS Strasbourg whose aim is to observe and analyze European realities not based on idealized models of operation or on abstract patterns but rather on observations made in the field close to the action and to the life of the European citizen as well as to that of the corporate world In this light the IECS has decided to invite each year twelve personalities with differing competencies cultures and nationalities

Strasbourg is one of the capitals of a multiform and multipolar de facto Europe it is also at the center of leading scientific networks In this light the present publication is especially interesting and original it is the reflection not of the ideas of a few specialists integrated into the system of the European Community but of observers and researchers in close contact with everyday reality a reality marked doubtless by severe constraints but at the same time suggesting an escape towards a stimulating vision of the future Aspirations and realities are in perpetual conflict it is important that the former not be crushed by the latter The testimonies presented herewith are first of all the reflection of the diversity to be managed differently depending on country sector of activity and managerial function Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,2000 The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2009 International Encyclopedia of Business and Management Malcolm Warner,2002 Internet Marketing Dave Chaffey,2003 This guide explains how organisations can use the Internet to support their marketing activities Building on traditional marketing theory together with emerging academic literature it details an approach to applying the Internet for marketing Subject Guide to Books in Print ,1996
