

Direct Proportion

Direct proportion is a type of proportionality relationship; as one variable increases/decreases, so does the other variable.

To calculate an unknown value that is directly proportional to another, we use a multiplier, known as the constant of proportionality.

The symbol $\propto$ means 'is proportional to'.

If y is directly proportional to x , we can write this relationship as $y \propto x$.

As $y \div x = k$ where k is the constant of proportionality, we can deduce the direct proportion formula:

$$y = kx$$
