Discourse And Context In Language Teaching A For Language Teachers:

Discourse and Context in Language Teaching Marianne Celce-Murcia, Elite Olshtain, 2000 Discourse and Context in Language Teaching A Guide for Language Teachers is part of the Cambridge Handbooks for Language for Language Teachers series

Discourse and Context in Language Teaching Marianne Celce-Murcia, 2000 Discourse and Context in Language Teaching Marianne Celce-Murcia, Elite Olshtain, 2000 Recommends that language teachers incorporate discourse and pragmatics in their teaching if they wish to implement a communicative approach in their classrooms The authors show how a discourse perspective can enhance the teaching of traditional areas of linguistic knowledge and language skills

Context and Culture in Language Teaching Claire Kramsch, 1993-06-17 This book takes cultural knowledge in language learning not only as a necessary aspect of communicative competence but as an educational objective in its own right If the aim of foreign language education is to foster cross cultural awareness and self realization language pedagogy needs to come to grips with a range of fundamental issues what do we mean by cultural context Can discourse practices be taught like rules of grammar What role does literature play in the development of second language literacy How can learners acquire both an insider's and an outsider's understanding of the foreign culture as expressed through its language By exploring these and other issues the book can help language teachers reflect on their profession and place it within its larger societal and educational context In turn they can help learners become not only skilful users of the language but also active architects of a new cross cultural world order

Language as Discourse Michael McCarthy, Ronald Carter, 2014-07-22 In this book Michael McCarthy and Ronald Carter describe the discursial properties of language and demonstrate what insights this approach can offer to the student and teacher of language The authors examine the relationship between complete texts both spoken and written and the social and cultural contexts in which they function They argue that the functions of language are often best understood in a discursial environment and that exploring language in context compels us to revise commonly held understandings about the forms and meanings of language In so doing the authors argue the need for language teachers syllabus planners and curriculum organisers to give greater attention to language as discourse

Language in Language Teacher Education Hugh Trappes-Lomax, Gibson Ferguson, 2002-12-11 This volume explores the defining element in the work of language teacher educators language itself The book is in two parts The first part holds up to scrutiny concepts of language that underlie much practice in language teacher education yet too frequently remain under examined These include language as social institution language as verbal practice language as reflexive practice language as school subject and language as medium of language learning The chapters in the second part are written by language teacher educators working in a range of institutional contexts and on a variety of types of program including both long and short courses both pre service and in service courses and teacher education practice focusing variously on metalinguistic awareness for teachers language improvement and classroom communication The unifying factor is that collectively they illuminate how language teacher educators research their practice and reflect on underlying principles

Context and Culture in Language Teaching and Learning Michael Byram, Peter Grundy, 2003 The chapters in this book all address the significance of the relationship between the aims and methods of language teaching and the contexts in which it takes place Some consider the implications for the ways in which we research language teaching others present the results of research and development work

The Role of Context in Language Teachers' Self Development and Motivation Amy S. Thompson, 2021-02-09 This book unpacks data from conversations with bi multilingual EFL teachers whose L1s are languages other than English and who are from understudied contexts Argentina Egypt Estonia Senegal Turkey Ukraine and Vietnam to provide insights into the formation of ideal teacher selves The author discusses the complexities surrounding the development of the teachers selves and motivation as well as their intertwinement with the sociopolitical realities of their individual contexts The work reveals how these realities and the specific social interactions that occur therein influence the language learning and teaching processes it also challenges the notions of and the need for a native non native speaker dichotomy in the field Expanding on Ushioda's 2009 person in context approach and reflecting on the multilingual settings of the teachers the integration of the context specific politics of language learning and teaching is a fresh approach to work in motivation
