Journalistic Writing Knowledge Organiser

Most important information given at the beginning

Introductory paragraph

Introductory paragraph: The first paragraph of a newspaper article. It is the most important part of the article as it is the first thing the reader sees. It should be short and snappy, and it should give the reader a clear idea of what the article is about.

Body of newspaper

Body of newspaper: The main part of the article. It contains the details of the story. It should be written in a clear and concise style, and it should be easy to read. The body of the article should be divided into paragraphs, and each paragraph should start with a topic sentence.

Quote

Quote: A statement made by a person involved in the story. It is used to provide evidence for the writer's claims. Quotes should be short and snappy, and they should be easy to read. They should also be clearly identified as quotes, and they should be used to support the main points of the article.

Picture

Concluding paragraph

Bias in media

"Media bias" refers to a real or perceived tendency of media such as newspaper articles to approach both the presentation of particular stories, and the selection of which stories to cover, with an unbalanced perspective.
