Improved Definition of NonStandard Neutrosophic Logic and Introduction to Neutrosophic Hyperreals (Fifth version) Florentin Smarandache, 2022-11-01 In the fifth version of our response paper 26 to Imamura's criticism we recall that NonStandard Neutrosophic Logic was never used by neutrosophic community in no application that the quarter of century old neutrosophic operators 1995 1998 criticized by Imamura were never utilized since they were improved shortly after but he omits to tell their development and that in real world applications we need to convert approximate the NonStandard Analysis hyperreals monads and binads to tiny intervals with the desired accuracy otherwise they would be inapplicable We point out several errors and false statements by Imamura 21 with respect to the inf sup of nonstandard subsets also Imamura's rigorous definition of neutrosophic logic is wrong and the same for his definition of nonstandard unit interval and we prove that there is not a total order on the set of hyperreals because of the newly introduced Neutrosophic Hyperreals that are indeterminate whence the Transfer Principle from $\mathbb{R}$ to $\mathbb{R}$ is questionable After his criticism several response publications on theoretical nonstandard neutrosophics followed in the period 2018 2022 As such I extended the NonStandard Analysis by adding the left monad closed to the right right monad closed to the left pierced binad we introduced in 1998 and unpierced binad all these in order to close the newly extended nonstandard space $\mathbb{R}$ under nonstandard addition nonstandard subtraction nonstandard multiplication nonstandard division and nonstandard power operations 23 24 Improved definitions of NonStandard Unit Interval and NonStandard Neutrosophic Logic together with NonStandard Neutrosophic Operators are presented Real Analysis Through Modern Infinitesimals Nader Vakil, 2011-02-17 A coherent self contained treatment of the central topics of real analysis employing modern infinitesimals

Operational Semantics for Timed Systems Heinrich Rust, 2005-03-31 This monograph is dedicated to a novel approach for uniform modelling of timed and hybrid systems Heinrich Rust presents a time model which allows for both the description of discrete time steps and continuous processes with a dense real number time model The proposed time model is well suited to express synchronicity of events in a real number time model as well as strict causality by using uniform discrete time steps Thus it integrates and reconciles two views of time that are commonly used separately in different application domains In many discrete systems time is modelled by discrete steps of uniform length in continuous systems time is seen as a dense flow The main idea to integrate these different views is a discretization of the dense real number time structure by using constant infinitesimal time steps within each real number point in time The underlying mathematical structure of this time model is based on concepts of Non standard Analysis as proposed by Abraham Robinson in the 1950s The discrete modelling i e the description of sequential discrete algorithms at different abstraction levels is done with Abstract State Machines along the formalisms developed by Yuri Gurevich and temporal logic These ingredients produce a rich formal basis for describing a large variety of systems with quantitative linear time properties by seamless integration refinement and embedding of continuous and discrete models into one uniform semantic framework called Non standard Timed Abstract State Machines NTASM

Answers to Imamura's "Note on the Definition of Neutrosophic Logic" Florentin Smarandache, In order to more accurately situate and fit the neutrosophic logic into the framework of nonstandard analysis we present the neutrosophic inequalities neutrosophic equality neutrosophic infimum and supremum neutrosophic standard intervals including the cases when the neutrosophic logic standard and nonstandard components T I F get values outside of the classical unit interval $[0, 1]$ and a brief evolution of neutrosophic operators
