The background is filled with a large pile of crumpled white paper, suggesting a process of multiple drafts or a struggle with writing. The lighting is soft and natural, creating a contemplative mood.

“You write because you have an idea in your mind that feels so genuine, so important, so true. And yet, by the time this idea passes through the different filters of your mind, and into your hand, and onto the page or computer screen - it becomes distorted, and it's been diminished.”

ABOUT THE BOOK One could not count the moons that shimmer on her roofs or the thousand splendid suns that hide behind her walls A Thousand Splendid Suns is a gripping story of two women learning how to survive under the thumb of an abusive husband in Taliban controlled Afghanistan Mariam grew up as the illegitimate daughter of a Herat businessman raised by a bitter and depressed single mother Laila was the beloved daughter of a Kabul man who believed in a world where men and women are equal When the circumstances of war bring them together under the roof of the cruel Rasheed their only comfort is in the special bond of sisterhood they form during years cut off from the rest of the world Khaled Hosseini weaves a tale of love and survival that begins during the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan in the 1970s and ends with the American invasion and occupation in the early 2000s Although ultimately a story of love and friendship A Thousand Splendid Suns reveals the devastating affects of war on those caught in the middle particularly women and children

Imagining Afghanistan Alla Ivanchikova,2019-09-15 Imagining Afghanistan examines how Afghanistan has been imagined in literary and visual texts that were published after the 9 11 attacks and the subsequent U S led invasion the era that propelled Afghanistan into the center of global media visibility Through an analysis of fiction graphic novels memoirs drama and film the book demonstrates that writing and screening Afghanistan has become a conduit for understanding our shared post 9 11 condition Afghanistan serves as a lens through which contemporary cultural producers contend with the moral ambiguities of twenty first century humanitarianism interpret the legacy of the Cold War debate the role of the U S in the rise of transnational terror and grapple with the long term impact of war on both human and nonhuman ecologies Post 9 11 global Afghanistan literary production remains largely NATO centric insofar as it is marked by an uncritical investment in humanitarianism as an approach to Third World suffering and in anti communism as an unquestioned premise The book s first half exposes how persisting anti socialist biases including anti statist bias not only shaped recent literary and visual texts on Afghanistan resulting in a distorted portrayal of its tragic history but also informed these texts reception by critics In the book s second half the author examines cultural texts that challenge this limited horizon and forge alternative ways of representing traumatic histories Captured by the author through the concepts of deep time nonhuman witness and war as a multispecies
