Digital Discourse Language In The New Media:

Digital Discourse Crispin Thurlow, Kristine Mroczek, 2011-10-26 Digital Discourse offers a distinctly sociolinguistic perspective on the nature of language in digital technologies. It starts by simply bringing new media sociolinguistics up to date, addressing current technologies like instant messaging, text messaging, blogging, photo sharing, mobile phones, gaming, social network sites, and video sharing. Chapters cover a range of communicative contexts: journalism, gaming, tourism, leisure, performance, public debate, communicators, professional and lay young people, and adults, intimates and groups, and languages: Irish, Hebrew, Chinese, Finnish, Japanese, German, Greek, Arabic, and French. The volume is organized around topics of primary interest to sociolinguists, including genre, style, and stance. With commentaries from the two most internationally recognized scholars of new media discourse, Naomi Baron and Susan Herring, and essays by well-established scholars and new voices in sociolinguistics, the volume will be more current, more diverse, and more thematically unified than any other collection on the topic.

The Routledge Handbook of Language and Digital Communication Alexandra Georgakopoulou, Tereza Spilioti, 2015-07-16 The Routledge Handbook of Language and Digital Communication provides a comprehensive state-of-the-art overview of language-focused research on digital communication, taking stock and registering the latest trends that set the agenda for future developments in this thriving and fast-moving field. The contributors are all leading figures or established authorities in their areas, covering a wide range of topics and concerns in the following seven sections: Methods and Perspectives; Language Resources; Genres and Discourses; Digital Literacies; Digital Communication in Public; Digital Selves and Online/Offline Lives; Communities, Networks, Relationships; New debates and Further directions. This volume showcases critical syntheses of the established literature on key topics and issues, and at the same time reflects upon and engages with cutting-edge research and new directions for study as emerging within social media. A wide range of languages are represented, from Japanese, Greek, German, and Scandinavian languages to computer-mediated Arabic, Chinese, and African languages. The Routledge Handbook of Language and Digital Communication will be an essential resource for advanced undergraduates, postgraduates, and researchers within English language and linguistics, applied linguistics, and media and communication studies.

Analyzing Digital Discourse Patricia Bou-Franch, Pilar Garcés-Conejos Blitvich, 2018-09-29 This innovative edited collection presents new insights into emerging debates around digital communication practices. It brings together research by leading international experts to examine methods and approaches, multimodality, face, and identity across five thematically organized sections. Its contributors revise current paradigms in view of past, present, and future research and analyse how users deploy the wealth of multimodal resources afforded by digital technologies to undertake tasks and to enact identity. In its concluding section, it identifies the ideologies that underpin the construction of digital texts in the social world. This important contribution to digital discourse studies will have interdisciplinary appeal across the fields of linguistics, socio-linguistics, pragmatics, discourse analysis, gender studies, multimodality, media, and communication studies.

Visualizing Digital Discourse Crispin Thurlow, Christa Dürscheid, Federica Diémoz, 2020-02-10 The first dedicated volume of its kind Visualizing Digital Discourse brings together sociolinguists and discourse analysts examining the role of visual communication in digital media The volume showcases work from leading established and emerging scholars from across Europe covering a diverse range of digital media platforms such as messaging video chat gaming and wikis visual modalities such as emojis video and layout methodologies like discourse analysis ethnography and conversation analysis as well as data from different languages With an opening chapter by Rodney Jones the volume is organized into three parts Besides Words and Writing The Social Life of Images and Designing Multimodal Texts From the perspective of these broad domains chapters tackle some of the major ideological interactional and institutional implications of visibility for digital discourse studies The first part beginning with a co authored chapter by Crispin Thurlow focuses on micro level visual practices and their macro level framing all with particular regard for emojis The second part beginning with a chapter from Sirpa Leppänen examines the ways visual resources are used for managing personal relations and the wider cultural politics of visual representation in these practices The third part beginning with a chapter by Hartmut Stiehl considers organizational contexts where users deploy visual resources for more transactional often commercial ends New Media and the Mediatization of Religion Gabriel Faiman, William O. Lesitaokana, 2018-10-01 New media including digital and social media play a central role in producing and reproducing socio cultural and religious practices Its presence has not only resulted in changes to the ways in which religious beliefs are practiced but has also altered the way religious meanings are expressed How has new media technology informed and influenced religious engagement and participation In what ways has new media technology enabled religious groups to practice and preach their religious beliefs to a broader audience To what extent has the emergence of social media and social networking sites shaped religious discourses and religious practices This volume offers a unique Africa centred perspective in response to these questions While presenting new scholarly developments in the fields of media religion and culture in Africa this book also provides empirical and theoretical insights into the intersection between new media and religion Language, Identity and Cycling in the New Media Age Patrick Kiernan, 2017-09-21 This book examines how identities associated with cycling are evoked narrated and negotiated in a media context dominated by digital environments Arguing that the nature of identity is being impacted by the changing nature of the material and semiotic resources available for making meaning the author introduces an approach to exploring such identity positioning through the interrelated frameworks of Systemic Functional Linguistics and Multimodal Analysis and illustrates how this happens in practice The book is divided into three parts each of which focuses on a different aspect of identity and media environment Part I considers celebrity identities in the conventional media of print and television Part II investigates community and leisure sporting identity through an online cycling forum while Part III examines corporate identity realised through corporate websites consumer reviews and Youtube channels This unique volume will appeal to students and scholars of discourse analysis applied linguistics and the world of cycling Experiencing Digital Discourses Camilla Vásquez, Jan Chovanec, 2025-05-14 This edited book addresses current trends in digital discourse analysis The central theme of the volume is the notion of digital experiences in other words how users rely on mediating technologies both to communicate and bond with others and to organize themselves for joint action The chapters are grouped into three overarching themes user engagement multimodal communication and online activism Topics covered include memetic and multimodal humor on the internet sticker use on WeChat language ideology debates on YouTube covert communication in QAnon forums COVID narratives on Korean vlogs and political activism on Twitter among others The book will be of interest to scholars in the broadly defined field of digital discourse analysis It will be relevant to linguists social media researchers communication scholars and media and cultural studies specialists
