

Science fiction story writing

Choose one of the story ideas and then 'flesh' it out using the points below, ticking them off as you complete them. When you have completed details for all the headings then write your science fiction story in full!

- ☐ Setting
- ☐ Main character
- ☐ What is the situation at the start?
- ☐ What happens next?

- ☐ Vocabulary
- ☐ Other characters
- ☐ What happens in the end?

After seeing a bright light shooting through the sky, you discover an alien being in your garden shed.

The year is 3054. Humans can no longer live on the surface of the earth as the temperatures have become too extreme.

A space explorer flies a craft to a new planet. It is believed there are life forms on the planet.

The year is 2099 and students at school are educated by robots. All is well until one day when the robots malfunction.

A mad scientist has created a cloning machine. He decides that you will be his first subject.

Robots have become so advanced that humans have no need to work. As a result humans have become very lazy.

A building company announces it is going to build a city of the future in a closed biosphere. Your family buys a futuristic house and moves in. However once you have moved in you find out there is no escape.

You are abducted by aliens who take you to their planet. You think you are going to be killed, however they declare you are their new leader.

A song is released into the charts. It becomes very popular but you realise that the song is hypnotising young people and making them act like zombies.

The year is 3050 and robots called Guardians have been created. They have been created to look after a child 24 hours a day. Each child has their own robot that ensures they are safe and do the right thing all the time.
