meaning: An introduction to semantics and pragmatics. Third edition Paul Kroeger, 2022-09-28 This book provides an introduction to the study of meaning in human language from a linguistic perspective. It covers a fairly broad range of topics including lexical semantics, compositional semantics, and pragmatics. The chapters are organized into six units: 1 Foundational concepts, 2 Word meanings, 3 Implicature including indirect speech acts, 4 Compositional semantics, 5 Modals, conditionals, and causation, 6 Tense aspect. Most of the chapters include exercises which can be used for class discussion and/or homework assignments, and each chapter contains references for additional reading on the topics covered. As the title indicates, this book is truly an introduction; it provides a solid foundation which will prepare students to take more advanced and specialized courses in semantics and/or pragmatics. It is also intended as a reference for fieldworkers doing primary research on underdocumented languages to help them write grammatical descriptions that deal carefully and clearly with semantic issues. The approach adopted here is largely descriptive and non-formal, or in some places semi-formal, although some basic logical notation is introduced. The book is written at a level which should be appropriate for advanced undergraduate or beginning graduate students. It presupposes some previous coursework in linguistics but does not presuppose any background in formal logic or set theory. Linguistics Anne E. Baker, Kees Hengeveld, 2012-01-19

Danove, 2022-06-02 Paul Danove presents a case frame grammar and lexicon for the Book of Revelation with three major goals He first provides a step by step introduction to case frame analysis incorporating various adaptations and extensions to address the needs of the study of the Greek of the New Testament He then supplies a comprehensive case frame grammar and description of the syntactic semantic and lexical requirements that each predicator imposes on its complements He finally generates a case frame lexicon that guides the interpretation and translation of each predicator occurrence in its grammatical contexts Danove begins with the method of analysis and description with an overview of case frame grammar an analysis of the events grammaticalized by the predicators in the Book of Revelation descriptions of the usages of these events and further specification of these descriptions He then provides illustrative examples of the predicators with each usage discusses the distinctive grammatical characteristics of Revelation sets forth the protocols for generating lexicon entries and concludes with the case frame lexicon for predicators in the text of Revelation Linguistic Supertypes Per Durst-Andersen, 2011-02-28 The book offers a completely new view of language and of languages such as Russian Chinese Bulgarian Georgian Danish and English by dividing them into three supertypes on the basis of a step by step examination of their relationship to perception and cognition their representation of situations and their use in oral and written discourse The dynamic processing of visual stimuli involves three stages input experience intake understanding and outcome a combination The very choice among three modalities of existence gives a language a certain voice either the voice of reality based on situations the speaker's voice involving experiences or the hearer's voice grounded on information This makes grammar a prime index all symbols are static and impotent and need a vehicle i.e. grammar which can bring them to the proper point of reference Language is shown to be a living organism with a determinant category aspect mood or tense which conquers territory from other potential competitors trying to create harmony between verbal and nominal categories It is demonstrated that the communication processes are different in the three supertypes although in all three cases the speaker must choose between a public and a private voice before the grammar is put into use Mapping English Metaphor Through Time Wendy Anderson, Ellen Bramwell, Carole Hough, 2016-08-18 This volume offers an empirical and diachronic investigation of the foundations and nature of metaphor in English Metaphor is one of the hot topics in present day linguistics with a huge range of research focusing on the systematic connections between different concepts such as heat and anger fuming inflamed sight and understanding clear see or bodies and landscape hill foot river mouth Until recently the lack of a comprehensive data source made it difficult to obtain an overview of this phenomenon in any language but this changed with the completion in 2009 of The Historical Thesaurus of English the only historical thesaurus ever produced for any language Chapters in this volume use this unique resource as a basis for case studies of semantic domains including Animals Colour Death Fear Food Reading and Theft providing a significant step forward in the data driven understanding of metaphor
