The Languages of Africa and the Diaspora Jo Anne Kleifgen,George C. Bond,2009-02-17 This book examines the social cost of linguistic exceptionalism for the education of speakers of nondominant subordinated languages in Africa and the African diaspora The contributors take the languages of Africa the Caribbean and the US as cases in point to illustrate the effects of exceptionalist beliefs that these languages are inadequate for instructional purposes They describe contravening movements toward various forms of linguistic diversity both inside and outside of school settings across these regions Different theoretical lenses and a range of empirical data are brought to bear on investigating the role of these languages in educational policies and practices Collectively the chapters in this volume make the case for a comprehensive language awareness to remedy the myths of linguistic exceptionalism and to advance the affirmative dimensions of linguistic diversity The 1840 translation of the Gospel of Luke as a technology of power Itumeleng D. Mothoagae ,2024-07-26 In this book the author aims to explore the impact of 19th century translations of the Bible into indigenous languages with a specific focus on the Setswana translation The translations have had a profound effect on the religio cultural practices of the indigenous people leading to erosion and alteration of their traditions and identities I argue that it is crucial to consider the translator s intentions and the associated literature such as journals and letters to understand the translation process comprehensively The Setswana Bible was the first to be translated in Africa and tracing the intentions of Robert Moffat the first translator is imperative to understanding the impact of the translation on the receptor culture The methodology adopted is interdisciplinary drawing from linguistics African languages history English literature cultural studies black studies and theology I analyse the impact of the 1840 Gospel of Luke in the context of Setswana culture in South Africa and my findings demonstrate that translations cannot be distinct from the translator To gain a deep understanding of the implications of such texts I adopt a methodology that analyses significant historical literature and primary sources including the records and works of The British and Foreign Bible Society The History of the London Missionary Society and the journals letters and writings of missionaries such as Robert Moffat and John Campbell

Disciplines as Frameworks for Student Learning Tim Riordan,James Roth,2023-07-03 What should students be able to do and how should they be able to think as a result of study in a discipline What does learning in the disciplines look like at different developmental levels How does one go about designing such learning and assessment in the disciplines What institutional structures and processes can assist faculty to engage and teach their disciplines as frameworks for student learning Creating ways to make a discipline come alive for those who are not experts even for students who may not take more than one or two courses in the disciplines they study requires rigorous thought about what really matters in a field and how to engage students in the practice of it Faculty from Alverno College representing a range of liberal arts disciplines chemistry economics history literature mathematics and philosophy here reflect on what it has meant for them to approach their disciplines as frameworks for student learning They present the intellectual biographies of their explorations the insights they have gained and examples of the practices they have adopted The authors all demonstrate how the ways of thinking they have identified as significant for their students in their respective disciplines have affected the way they design learning experiences and assessments They show how they have shaped their teaching around the ways of thinking they want their students to develop within and across their disciplines and what that means in terms of designing assessments that require students to demonstrate their thinking and understanding through application and use This book will appeal to faculty interested in going beyond mere techniques to a more substantive analysis of how their view of their respective disciplines might change when seen through the lens of student learning It will also serve the needs of graduate students trainers of Tas and anyone engaged in faculty development or interested in the scholarship of teaching Sociolinguistic and Language Planning Organizations Francesc Domínguez,Núria López,1995-01-01 This directory gives guidance in the complicated world of sociolinguistic and language planning organizations giving structural information on regional national provincial and community level both public and private Each entry gives full details including full addresses phone fax numbers Director s name and information on the organization s activities programs publications work in progress and plans for the future Language International World Directory of Sociolinguistic and Language Planning Organizations ,1995-10-16 This directory gives guidance in the complicated world of sociolinguistic and language planning organizations giving structural information on regional national provincial and community level both public and private Each entry gives full details including full addresses phone fax numbers Director s name and information on the organization s activities programs publications work in progress and plans for the future [Re]Gained in Translation II Sabine Dievenkorn,Shaul Levin,2024-02-26 Times are changing and with them the norms and notions of correct ness Despite a wide spread belief that the Bible as a sacred original only allows one translation if any new translations are constantly produced and published for all kinds of audiences and purposes The various paradigms marked by the theological political and historical correctness of the time group and identity and bound to certain ethics and axiomatic norms are reflected in almost every current translation project Like its predecessor the current volume brings together scholars working at the intersection of Translation Studies Bible Studies and Theology all of which share a special point of interest concerning the status of the Scriptures as texts fundamentally based on the act of translation and its recurring character It aims to breathe new life into Bible translation studies unlock new perspectives and vistas of the field and present a bigger picture of how Bible re translation works in society today
