birth and burdened by increasing debts and obligations in this world and the next Against this gloomy outlook Daoism offered ritual and sacramental instruments capable of acting on the unseen world providing therapeutic relief and ecstatic release from apprehensions of death disease war spoilt harvests and loss Drawing on prayer texts liturgical sermons and experiential narratives Franciscus Verellen focuses on the Daoist vocabulary of bondage and redemption the changing meanings of sacrifice and metaphoric conceptualizations bridging the visible and invisible realms The language of medieval supplicants envisaged the redemption of an imperiled destiny as debt forgiveness and deliverance as healing purification release or emergence from darkness into light

The Evolution of Chinese Filiality Deborah Lynn Porter, 2022-03-10 This unique book brings a fresh interdisciplinary approach to the analysis of ancient Chinese history creating a historical model for the emergence of cultural mainstays by applying recent dramatic findings in the fields of neuroscience and cultural evolution The centrality in Chinese culture of a deep reverence for the lives of preceding generations filial piety is conventionally attributed to Confucius 551-479 B.C. who viewed hierarchical family relations as foundational for social order Here Porter argues that Confucian conceptions of filiality themselves evolved from a systemized set of behaviors and thoughts a mental structure which descended from a specific Neolithic mindset and that this psychological structure was contoured by particular emotional conditions experienced by China s earliest farmers Using case study analysis from Neolithic sky observers to the dynastic cultures of the Shang and Western Zhou the book shows how filial piety evolved as a structure of feeling a legacy of a cultural predisposition toward particular moods and emotions that were inherited from the ancestral past Porter also brings new urgency to the topic of ecological grief linking the distress central to the evolution of the filial structure to its catalyst in an environmental crisis With a blended multidisciplinary approach
