

The background of the cover is a photograph of two icebergs in the ocean. The water is split horizontally: the top half is a clear blue sky, and the bottom half is a dark, deep blue ocean. Two white icebergs are visible. The one on the left is smaller and has a simple, pointed peak. The one on the right is much larger and more complex, with multiple peaks and jagged edges. The visible portion of the right iceberg is just above the water line, while the vast majority of its mass is submerged in the dark water below, illustrating the concept of 'what you see is not always what you get'.
