parents have discovered for themselves that these strategies engage their children and win their cooperation Still parents often do not know why children act as they do or why they succeed or fail The information and recommendations in this book are based on a philosophy of life and concept of human nature and behavior first presented by Alfred Adler Rudolph Dreikurs and others The parenting methods they recommended have become increasingly accepted and used during recent decades in Europe and North America They do not suggest either permissiveness or punishment but instead methods for use by parents which emphasize wise guidance of children without either overcontrolling them or stifling their creative spirit With more secure knowledge of what to do parents can improve their parenting using techniques and strategies that work Parents are too often faced with child raising challenges for which they are not prepared Just as the child needs training so do parents Ideas presented in the pages of this book suggest new ways to respond to a child s provocations that can lead to new attitudes and parental behaviors These can and often do lead in turn to new and productive approaches and methods that allow more harmonious relationships to develop But why do children act as they do And why do these methods enable parents to succeed The information included in this volume was designed to answer these and related questions as well as to present a set of principles in a form readily usable by parents in the home teachers in the classroom and other adults in other circumstances and situations

Parenting Our Children in a Changing World William L. Camp FACAPP, 2021-09-09 During the last several generations developments in the field of education and child guidance have begun to corroborate a set of ideas and observations presented here which were first presented in Europe during the first third of the last century and refined during the last third Many of these concepts which were controversial when first suggested are now being further developed and are becoming generally accepted by modern psychologists and educators The focal point for corrective child raising procedures has shifted toward changing the interaction between parent and child as the fact that parents often need specific instruction in child raising has found wider acceptance Today we need and are developing new traditions for raising children which will better conform to the democratic principles for family living which now define and give meaning to the location we now all occupy in the process of democratic evolution in our society Although many parents may realize that children cannot be treated as they were in the past they do not know what else to do when children misbehave Following the specific suggestions which are summarized in this book many parents have discovered for themselves that these ways to reach children and win their cooperation do indeed work well As this information which includes specific methods has been used and tested by parents for the solution of family problems it has become evident that the system and procedures are effective But why do children act as they do And why do these methods enable parents to succeed The information included in this book was designed to answer these and related questions as well as to present a set of principles in a form readily usable by parents in the home teachers in the classroom and other adults in other circumstances and situations
