Data Catalogs May be the New Black, But Metadata is Not Cabbage Jonathan Gray,2019 The rise of big data and the soaring growth in information holdings is out stripping the ability of many organizations to manage this information Self service analytics has the potential to streamline processes and boost analytics capability in many businesses but you can t do analytics on data you can t find Gartner have reported that 80% of Data Lake projects do not make it into production Improved metadata management practice and the deployment of an enterprise data catalog are now recognized as the key improvements needed to leverage value from big data and analytics investments However simply purchasing metadata tools is not sufficient a carefully thought out business approach and deployment methodology is required in order to successfully improve organizational metadata practice Resource description page

Metadata Management in Statistical Information Processing Karl A. Froeschl,2013-12-21 As the integration of statistical data collected in various subject matter domains becomes more and more important in several socio economic etc investigation areas the management of so called metadata a formal digital processing of information about data gains tremendously increasing relevance Unlike current information technologies e g database systems computer networks facilitating merely the technical side of data collation a coherent integration of empirical data still remains cumbersome and thus rather costly very often because of a lack of powerful semantic data models capturing the very meaning and structure of statistical data sets Recognizing this deficiency Metadata Management proposes a general framework for the computer aided integration and harmonization of distributed heterogeneous statistical data sources aiming at a truly comprehensive statistical meta information system
