former tenured professor at Vanderbilt and Princeton Universities Getting to Where We Meant to Be Patricia H. Hinchey, Pamela J. Konkol, 2024-04-24 At a moment when brawls are breaking out at school board meetings and state officials are increasingly issuing curricular mandates it's possible that this text's central question is more important than ever How is it that given good intentions and hard work among education professionals things in schools can go so very wrong As in the first edition Hinchey and Konkol suggest that unspoken and misleading assumptions can produce choices decisions and policies with disastrous consequences for kids They tease out such assumptions on the key issues of school goals curriculum education for citizenship discipline and school reform inviting readers to question the taken for granted in order to better align intentions and outcomes Such contemporary issues as book banning and parents movements are presented not as isolated controversies but instead in their historical cultural and political contexts Designed for both undergraduate and graduate classrooms the text applies to a wide range of studies related to public education including its theory policy history and politics Without proselytizing the text asks readers to think for themselves and articulate their own commitments guided by end of chapter questions some intended for all readers and some specifically for experienced professionals Suggested additional readings websites and videos invite further exploration of the topics under discussion and offer still more food for thought

Interrogating Muslims Schirin Amir-Moazami, 2022-06-30 This book interrogates the patterns and discursive structures that have generated the seeming urgency of Muslims integration Focusing on Germany it problematizes the grounds on which politics of integration are justified and reasoned upon and thereby investigates divergent operations of power vis vis Muslims and Islam in a formally liberal secular society The integration paradigm in Germany has been predicated on an imperial knowledge regime in which Islam figures as the external friend or enemy of an imagined Christian secular This book analyzes three kinds of integration practices as symptomatic sites for the multifaceted dimensions of power in this paradigm the scientific measurement of Muslims degrees of integration which are correlated with their degrees of religiosity the politics of recognition promoted by state organized dialogue with Muslims and the threat of sanction found in the regulations of citizenship and explicitly in citizenship tests Centrally the book argues that the paradigm of integration navigates between universalist claims and particularistic racial and religious re enactments of a secular nation state framework at moments in which this very framework is crumbling

Hollywood or History? Starlynn R. Nance, 2022-05-01 Teaching with film is not a new approach in the social studies classroom Different publications such as Hollywood or History have bridged the gap with challenges attached to using historical film and engage students through inquiry not entertainment To continue with the Hollywood or History strategy this text uses television shows sitcoms to brings issue centered curriculum to middle and high school classrooms By exploring issues in specific episodes students can learn the history behind an issue relate it to their lives and develop an informed decision associated with the issue The College Career and Civic Life C3 framework is an integral part to the exploration of issue centered curriculum In each chapter the students will work through the four dimensions and develop critical thinking reading and writing skills My hope is that this text can play a small role in walking practicing teachers through the C3 framework while allowing students to learn about issues that affect society and the communities where they live Defending Assessment Security in a Digital World Phillip Dawson, 2020-10-26. Defending Assessment Security in a Digital World explores the phenomenon of e cheating and identifies ways to bolster assessment to ensure that it is secured against threats posed by technology. Taking a multi disciplinary approach, the book develops the concept of assessment security through research from cybersecurity, game studies, artificial intelligence, and surveillance studies. Throughout, there is a rigorous examination of the ways people cheat in different contexts and the effectiveness of different approaches at stopping cheating. This evidence informs the development of standards and metrics for assessment security and ways that assessment design can help address e cheating. Its new concept of assessment security both complements and challenges traditional notions of academic integrity. By focusing on proactive, principles based approaches, the book equips educators, technologists, and policymakers to address both current e cheating as well as future threats.

Mobility Citizenship Chris Moreh, 2025-01-31. This book aims to trace the development of a new conception of mobility citizenship in Europe, historically, demographically, and experientially. To this aim, it adopts a constellationist approach applied to the intra European mobility space and uses the case studies of Hungarian and Romanian migration to the United Kingdom to develop a multidimensional, meso level comparative empirical analysis of mobility citizenship constellations. The main theoretical proposition of the book is that citizenship has undergone a noticeable change in meaning and valuation, with mobility rights becoming a more central component in the structure of opportunities it provides citizens. The logic of mobility citizenship is thus changing long held perceptions around the social functions of citizenship and consequently the nature of contemporary transnational society. The multifaceted analysis presented in the
