You Must Set Forth at Dawn Wole Soyinka, 2007-12-18 The first African to receive the Nobel Prize in Literature as well as a political activist of prodigious energies Wole Soyinka now follows his modern classic Ake The Years of Childhood with an equally important chronicle of his turbulent life as an adult in and in exile from his beloved beleaguered homeland In the tough humane and lyrical language that has typified his plays and novels Soyinka captures the indomitable spirit of Nigeria itself by bringing to life the friends and family who bolstered and inspired him and by describing the pioneering theater works that defied censure and tradition Soyinka not only recounts his exile and the terrible reign of General Sani Abacha but shares vivid memories and playful anecdotes including his improbable friendship with a prominent Nigerian businessman and the time he smuggled a frozen wildcat into America so that his students could experience a proper Nigerian barbecue More than a major figure in the world of literature Wole Soyinka is a courageous voice for human rights democracy and freedom You Must Set Forth at Dawn is an intimate chronicle of his thrilling public life a meditation on justice and tyranny and a mesmerizing testament to a ravaged yet hopeful land Aké Wole Soyinka, 1994 Wole Soyinka was born in Nigeria in 1934 Educated there and at Leeds University he worked in the British theatre before returning to West Africa in 1960 In 1986 he became the first African writer to win the Nobel Prize for Literature Aké Wole Soyinka, 1991

Temporality in Life As Seen Through Literature

Anna-Teresa Tymieniecka, 2007-05-09 Temporality pervades the dynamic joint of existence and the human being as such As human beings unfold through onto-poiesis each move of which punctuates the temporality of life they whose life experience deliberation planning reflection and dreaming are permeated by temporal motivations and concerns feel that they are engaged in the spinning of a common thread Attributing to that involvement universal laws constant existential validity and power they absolutise hypostasise its rule as a cosmic human factor time Yet today technologies are transforming the temporality of our existence by accelerating intensifying expanding our partaking in the world of life Human communal and social involvement is being challenged in its personal significance to the core of our being What happens to time A basic reinvestigation of the nature of temporality is called for Human creative endeavor especially literature may initiate it Having the human subject the creator at its center literature is essentially engaged in temporality whether that of the mind or of the world of life through the creative process of writing stage directing or the reader's and viewer's reception Out of the cross motivations that the creative mind filters in its temporal synthesis in touch with all the perspectives of existence there surges the deepest significance of life in humanity and culture But first of all life comes to light as timing itself in its logos
