

Characteristics of Victorian Literature

Overview

The literature of the Victorian age (1837 – 1901, named for the reign of Queen Victoria) entered in a new period after the romantic revival. During this period, Britain became the wealthiest nation in the world, due to the rapid and widespread expansion of the British Empire. In addition, the Victorians made the first real attempts to fix the massive social problems caused by the industrial and democratic revolutions of the Romantic period.

The term “Victorian” is still used as a synonym for “prude” today, a term that reflects the extreme repression of the age (even chair legs had to be covered, because they were thought to be too suggestive). But this is a pretty limited view of the Victorians. A huge segment of society was engaged in the discussion and debate of new ideas and theories, almost everyone was a voracious reader, and intellectual seriousness and liveliness formed the basis for the larger process of growth, change, and adjustment through the era. The Victorian Age was a time of HUGE social and political development, and it can be more easily managed when broken down into three phases: early, middle, and late.

The Literature

The literature of this era expressed the fusion of pure romance to gross realism. Though, the Victorian Age produced great poets, the age is also remarkable for the excellence of its prose. The discoveries of science have particular effects upon the literature of the age. If you study all the great writers of this period, you will mark four general characteristics:

1. Literature of this age tends to come closer to daily life which reflects its practical problems and interests. It becomes a powerful instrument for human progress. Socially & economically, Industrialism was on the rise and various reform movements like emancipation, child labor, women's rights, and evolution.
2. Moral Purpose: The Victorian literature seems to deviate from “art for art's sake” and asserts its moral purpose. Tennyson, Browning, Carlyle, Ruskin - all were the teachers of England with the faith in their moral message to instruct the world.
3. Idealism: It is often considered as an age of doubt and pessimism. The influence of science is felt here. The whole age seems to be caught in the conception of man in relation to the universe with the idea of evolution.
4. Though, the age is characterized as practical and materialistic, most of the writers exalt a purely ideal life. It is an idealistic age where the great ideals like truth, justice, love, brotherhood are emphasized by poets, essayists and novelists of the age.

The Style of the Victorian Novel

Victorian novels tend to be idealized portraits of difficult lives in which hard work, perseverance, love and luck win out in the end; virtue would be rewarded and wrongdoers are suitably punished. They tended to be of an

Characteristics Of Victorian Literature:

The Femme Fatale in Victorian Literature Jennifer Hedgecock, 2008 examines the changing social and economic status of women from the 1860s through the 1880s and rejects the stereotypical mid Victorian femme fatale portrayed by conservative ideologues critiquing popular fiction by Wilkie Collins Mary Elizabeth Braddon Honore de Balzac and William Makepeace Thackeray In these book reviews the female protagonist is simply minimized to a dangerous woman Refuting this one dimensional characterization this book argues that the femme fatale comes to represent the real life struggles of the middle class Victorian woman who overcomes major adversities such as poverty abusive husbands abandonment single parenthood limited job opportunities the criminal underworld and Victorian society s harsh invective against her publisher description

The Diversity of Victorian Literature Kristin Simon, 2005-07-13 Seminar paper from the year 2005 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature grade 1 Ernst Moritz Arndt University of Greifswald IfAA language English abstract The Victorian Age is marked by enormous changes Mark Twain expressed it this way and yet in a good many ways the world has moved farther ahead since the Queen was born than it moved in all the rest of the two thousand put together Abrams 61993 891 Besides industrial and social changes the era also saw a growth in literature and great authors like Charles Dickens or Oscar Wilde who are still read today Generally the term Victorian marks the time of Queen Victoria s reign from 1837 till 1901 but it is often extended and for many historians it started with the passage of the first Reform Bill in 1832 Since the era comprises about seventy years many drastic changes occurred during this time and the distinguishing characteristics of the individual authors cannot be combined into a general mood Consequently one cannot call it a homogenous period and it is necessary to distinguish it into three different parts Since the transitions were smooth the exact division may differ between historians The early phase is a period of changes and growth but it also saw a depression and demonstrations of workmen In the 1850s the Great Exhibition in 1851 and Darwin s On the Origin of the Species in 1859 can be seen as the beginning of the middle period a time of national prosperity England was the leading industrial power and English confidence was at its high point The late Victorian period covers the last two decades of the century It can be characterized by a general change of the Victorian mood doubts and fear of decay dominated and literature started to shatter into various very different forms This term paper will give a brief overview over the conditions and the literature of the Victorian era The diversity of the age will be shown and explained Therefore each genre will be described separately Furthermore I will summarize the works of major authors and while doing so show the contrasts between them

Long, 2016-09-05 This book which presents the whole splendid history of English literature from Anglo Saxon times to the close of the Victorian Era has three specific aims The first is to create or to encourage in every student the desire to read the best books and to know literature itself rather than what has been written about literature The second is to interpret literature both personally and historically that is to show how a great book generally reflects not only the author s life and thought but also the spirit of the age and the ideals of the nation s history The third aim is to show by a study of each successive period how our literature has steadily developed from its first simple songs and stories to its present complexity in prose and poetry To carry out these aims we have introduced the following features 1 A brief accurate summary of historical events and social conditions in each period and a consideration of the ideals which stirred the whole nation as in the days of Elizabeth before they found expression in literature 2 A study of the various literary epochs in turn showing what each gained from the epoch preceding and how each aided in the development of a national literature 3 A readable biography of every important writer showing how he lived and worked how he met success or failure how he influenced his age and how his age influenced him 4 A study and analysis of every author s best works and of many of the books required for college entrance examinations 5 Selections enough especially from earlier writers and from writers not likely to be found in the home or school library to indicate the spirit of each author s work and directions as to the best works to read and where such works may be found in inexpensive editions 6 A frank untechnical discussion of each great writer s work as a whole and a critical estimate of his relative place and influence in our literature
