Stanford ,2007 Writing Centers and Writing Across the Curriculum Programs Robert W. Barnett,Jacob S. Blumner,1999-02-28 Writing Centers have traditionally been viewed as marginalized facilities within their institutions At the same time faculty in all disciplines have come to stress the importance of good writing and institutions have created Writing Across the Curriculum WAC Programs to address this concern Often the interests of Writing Centers conflict with those of WAC programs and the theoretical foundations of the two may not necessarily be the same Nonetheless Writing Centers whether voluntarily or involuntarily have become more involved with efforts to promote Writing Across the Curriculum and have formed fruitful partnerships with WAC Programs While journal articles have begun to discuss these partnerships this book offers an extended treatment of the topic By examining the relationships between Writing Centers and WAC programs this volume challenges the view that Writing Centers are marginalized and demonstrates how they are aggressively moving toward the curricular center of education Each chapter examines the evolving theoretical practical and institutional relationships between Writing Centers and Writing Across the Curriculum programs By drawing from institutionally specific experiences expert contributors present a variety of approaches for establishing and developing effective Writing Center WAC partnerships Included are perspectives from established and emerging theorists from all levels including high schools community colleges small four year colleges and universities and major research institutions The contributors accurately portray the true diversity of Writing Center WAC partnerships and assess the compatibility of these partnerships with larger institutional missions The volume touches on such topics as the use of computers in writing instruction the use of student writing tutors and the problems inherent in discipline specific language By deepening our knowledge of the merging of Writing Centers and WAC Programs this book sets the foundation for more advanced future research Thomson Nelson Guide to Research and Writing in Political Science Lucille Charlton, Mark Charlton, 2006 Writing is an integral skill to the practice and discipline of Political Science Developed specifically for the Canadian marketplace the Thomson Nelson Political Science Writer s Guide provides students with writing instruction specific to the discipline Full of practical information on how to write various types of political science assignments from a basic essay to op ed pieces significant attention is paid to writing position papers and briefing documents and creating documents for use within the Parliamentary process The Thomson Nelson Political Science Writer s Guide is a practical guide to the research and writing of any type of political science assignment and includes numerous examples upon which students can model their writing It also enables students to work through all steps of an assignment from research to writing organization and citations With this guide at the ready instructors are able to vary their writing assignments without spending extensive in class time introducing students to different styles of political science writing Instructors can also assign longer and more complex writing assignments as the students progress through their studies The Thomson Nelson Political Science Writer s Guide serves the needs of all levels of Political Science students and is an excellent resource that can be referred to later in their careers in Political Science
