The geography of innovation is changing Firstly it is increasingly understood that innovative firms and organizations exhibit a wide variety of strategies each differently attuned to diverse geographic contexts Secondly and concomitantly the idea that cities clusters and physical proximity are essential for innovation is evolving under the weight of new theorizing and empirical evidence The aim of this handbook is to break with the many ideas and concepts that emerged during the course of the 1980s and 1990s and to fully take into account the new reality of the internet mobile communication technologies personal mobility and globalization The handbook gathers a new generation of ideas and authors to contribute to the debate providing an empirically grounded critical appraisal of the prevailing knowledge on the geography of innovation The 28 original chapters written by a diverse range of scholars with widely differing views present fresh empirical evidence and new perspectives relating to how innovation plays out across space in an age where mobility has increased information is ubiquitous and globalisation has been realised Overall the dialogue between existing theory and new possibilities provides a unique and challenging appraisal of the connection between innovation agglomeration and space Offering cutting edge ideas in an accessible format this will be an ideal resource for students and scholars of economic geography and innovation studies The empirical evidence and analysis will also be of great value for policymakers and government officials Contributors include B T Asheim H W Aslesen A Bain P A Balland N Bradford A Bramwell C Brennan Horley S Breschi C Carrincazeaux C Chaminade R Comunian C De Fuentes D Doloreux D Eckert A Faggian M Ferru R D Fitjar K Flanagan C Gibson M Grillitsch M Grossetti G Harirchi F Huber A Isaksen S Jewel J Karlsen N Komninos J L Klein N Lee F Lissoni M Maisonobe J Mattes P McCann C T Noumedem R Ortega Argil s M Plechero A Rallet A Rodriguez Pose R Shearmur H L Smith B Spigel J Tallec E Tranos D G Tremblay F T dtling M Trippel E Uyarra C Yang C Wilkie D A Wolfe

Trust Building and Boundary Spanning in Cross-Border Management Michael Zhang,2018-03-09 This edited book addresses two critical issues in international management building trust and managing boundary spanning activities between international business partners The dual process of internationalization of multinational corporations MNCs through globalisation and regionalisation has helped MNCs to increase their market expansion and improve the capabilities of innovation and learning By creating various forms of international strategic alliances ISAs MNCs have become structurally more complex and geographically more dispersed As a result MNCs in general and ISAs in particular face the challenges of discerning blurred organisational boundaries reconfiguring the control mechanisms integrating diversified resources and coordinating distributed activities in time and space Research in organisation behaviour indicates that boundary spanners play critical yet unspecified roles and functions in managing cross boundary relationships A core boundary spanning function is to build trust relationships When organisations engage in business transactions members of the organisations are concerned with not only the outcomes of economic transactions but also the processes of social exchanges Boundary spanners may succeed in building interpersonal trust in a partnership nonetheless their effort may not lead to inter partner trust without an effective implementation of the institutionalisation process Whereas trustworthiness is the antecedent to trust providing the basis for trust to develop distrust manifests itself as a separate and linked concept to trust These dynamic features of trust trustworthiness and distrust are critically elaborated Trust Building and Boundary Spanning in Cross Border Management is dedicated to explicating these under researched themes and contributing to the emerging streams of research in micro foundations and micro structural approaches It illustrates the latest research on the topic and will be of interest to both students at an advanced level academics and reflective practitioners in the fields of organisational behaviour and theory strategic management international strategy and strategic alliances

The Global and the Local Arndt Sorge, 2005-03-17 there is no lack of ambition in this book And yet unlike much of what today comes as sociology it is fun to read written in a way that combines the very abstract and the very concrete the principles of general theories and the anecdotes of specific histories in ways that are enlightening and entertaining at the same time Those who take the book to heart will find themselves in possession of a language that can speak about globalization in a non sensationalist manner without however in any way detracting from its significance in fact quite to the contrary They will much better and more systematically understand the lasting significance of the local in a world whose horizons of action are expanding From the Foreword by Wolfgang Streeck Max Planck Institute for the Study of Societies Cologne The rhetoric of internationalization and globalization often suggests an inexorable move away from domestic cultural and institutional differences Yet the development of internationalization within individual nations has been shaped by those very domestic institutions and cultures as best practice or other kinds of international learning have been translated into established practice and knowledge In this important study Arndt Sorge presents a sociological theory of the development of human societies to explain how business systems evolve and change and how internationalization works to specify and change societal identities within nations Examining changes in work organization corporate governance and human resources Sorge shows how this interaction is a pattern that has been followed over centuries Indeed amongst the cases Sorge presents he concentrates on the example of Germany a supposedly highly homogeneous and closed society as evidence for the universality of shifting borders expanding horizons local adoption and adaptation of global practices and the hybridization of systems and standards as the normal course of social evolution Arndt Sorge's analysis of globalization combines rigorous theoretical reasoning with empirically grounded analysis and deliberately adopts a general social science approach drawing on research from Business and Management Studies Sociology Political Science and History
