In Search of the Afropolitan Eva Rask Knudsen, Ulla Rahbek, 2016-07-18 In Search of the Afropolitan explores human encounters and moments that speak to the challenges of being a 21st century African of the world Against the background of an engaging evaluation of the heated debate on Afropolitanism and what constitutes an Afropolitan the authors turn to literature and its intrinsic capacity for unfolding the human figure of the African as inherently complex and multidimensional Through a detailed probing of the Afropolitan in literary narratives the book enters into conversations about self understanding and the signification of Africa in the contexts of global mobility The book conceives of Afropolitanism as a flexible space of inquiry that curbs the inclination to set the definition of the ism in stone Instead it attempts to distil through close up character analyses a multifarious sense of what it means to be Afropolitan in the contemporary moment In that sense the encounters we come across in the literary narratives produce unexpected ontological negotiations on what it means to be African in the world today As a special feature of In Search of the Afropolitan the authors conversations with prominent writers thinkers and critics provide a lively context for the ongoing debate on Afropolitanism and the Afropolitan

Migration and Return in Modern African Literature Ernest Cole, 2025 Using close readings of nine novels by African or African descended novelists this book examines three phases of African migration departure disillusionment and the impulse to return The experiences of African migrants in the diaspora are deeply inflected by the condition of living as Black bodies in white spaces In this work author Ernest Cole examines closely the narratives of migration and return presented in nine powerful novels by authors who include Chimamanda Adichie NoViolet Bulawayo Teju Cole and others The novels reveal a reversal of expectations that migrants from Africa experience upon arrival in the West a reversal prompted in part by the racial prejudice they are confronted with as Black individuals As the author notes the novels also illustrate the desire to return to the homeland as a better alternative to the precarious life in the West even though such a move is not without its complications The study is divided into three parts with seven chapters. The first two chapters deal with the reasons for the departure of migrants from the continent; the next two depict the experiences of migrants in the West; and the last three focus on contemplations of the return journey home. Collectively, the chapters lay out three phases in the migration process: departure from home, disillusionment in the West, and return to the country of origin. Within this framework, the book uses displacement and dislocation to examine a host of themes: social alienation, alterity, and the precarity of Africans in the diaspora.

Reading Postcolonial Literature Hayley G. Toth, 2025-03-10. An Open Access edition is available thanks to the kind sponsorship of the libraries participating in the Jisc Open Access Community Framework OpenUP initiative. Debates about reading in postcolonial studies rarely discuss non-professional readers except to secure the authority of professional reading practices. In Reading Postcolonial Literature, Hayley G. Toth places non-professional reading practices in dialogue with received academic wisdom to debunk common-sense assumptions about non-professional readers as Western or neocolonial consumers. Drawing on reading practices recorded in academic books, journal articles, and on online book-reviewing platforms like Amazon and Goodreads, Toth draws attention to important continuities between professional and non-professional practices of reading postcolonial literature. At the same time, she highlights that non-professionals often have little desire to emulate the practices of professional postcolonial critics. Precisely by not adopting the established protocols and methods of postcolonial studies, non-professional readers call attention to the limits of dominant approaches to reading in the discipline. Across four chapters, Toth examines the relationship between reading and identity during the Rushdie affair, the difference between reading and addressing the challenges posed by difficult texts, and the legitimacy of non-understanding and the reception of popular texts primarily read by non-professional audiences. Reading Postcolonial Literature demonstrates that reception matters in any claims we make about the value of reading postcolonial literature and offers new ways forward for the practice study and teaching of reading in the discipline.

Cosmopolitanisms Bruce Robbins, Paulo Lemos Horta, Kwame Anthony Appiah, 2017-07-18. An indispensable collection that re-examines what it means to belong in the world. Where are you from? The word cosmopolitan was first used as a way of evading exactly this question when Diogenes the Cynic declared himself a kosmo polites or citizen of the world. Cosmopolitanism displays two impulses: on the one hand, a detachment from one's place of origin; while on the other, an assertion of membership in some larger, more compelling collective. Cosmopolitanisms works from the premise that there is more than one kind of cosmopolitanism, a plurality that insists cosmopolitanism can no longer stand as a single ideal against which all smaller loyalties and forms of belonging are judged. Rather, cosmopolitanism can be defined as one of many possible modes of life, thought, and sensibility that are produced when commitments and loyalties are multiple and overlapping. Featuring essays by major thinkers including Homi Bhabha, Jean Bethke Elshtain, Thomas Bender, Leela Gandhi, Ato Quayson, and David Hollinger, among others, this collection asks what these plural cosmopolitanisms have in common and how the cosmopolitanisms of the underprivileged might serve the ethical values and political causes that matter to their members In addition to exploring the philosophy of Kant and the space of the city this volume focuses on global justice which asks what cosmopolitanism is good for and on the global south which has often been assumed to be an object of cosmopolitan scrutiny not itself a source or origin of cosmopolitanism This book gives a new meaning to belonging and its ground breaking arguments call for deep and necessary discussion and discourse

The Postcolonial Subject in Transit Delphine Fongang, 2018-01-19 The Postcolonial Subject in Transit presents in depth analyses of the complex transitional migratory identities evident in emerging African diasporic writings It provides insights into the hybridity of the migrant experience where the migrant struggles to negotiate new cultural spaces It shows that while some migrants successfully adapt and integrate into new

Western locales others exist at the margins unable to fully negotiate cultural difference The diaspora becomes a space for opportunities and economic mobility as well as alienation and uncertainties This illuminates the heterogeneity of the African diasporic narrative expanding the dialogue of the diaspora from one of simply loss and melancholia to self realization and empowerment

Water is Life Hellum, Anne, Kameri-Mbote, Patricia, 2015-10-19 This book approached water and sanitation as an African gender and human rights issue Empirical case studies from Kenya Malawi South Africa and Zimbabwe show how coexisting international national and local regulations of water and sanitation respond to the ways in which different groups of rural and urban women gain access to water for personal domestic and livelihood purposes The authors who are lawyers sociologists political scientists and anthropologists explore how women cope in contexts where they lack secure rights and participation in water governance institutions formal and informal The research shows how women as producers of family food rely on water from multiple sources that are governed by community based norms and institutions which recognise the right to water for livelihood How these common pool water resources due to protection gaps in both international and national law are threatened by large scale development and commercialisation initiatives facilitated through national permit systems is a key concern The studies demonstrate that existing water governance structures lack mechanisms which make them accountable to poor and vulnerable water users on the ground most importantly women The findings thus underscore the need to intensify measures to hold states accountable not just in water services provision but in assuring the basic human right to clean drinking water and sanitation and also to protect water for livelihoods

Violence and Memory in Zimbabwean Literature Tanaka Chidora, 2025-12-01 This book investigates how Zimbabwean literary texts subvert state sponsored amnesia when it comes to the many forms of past and ongoing political violence in Zimbabwe Zimbabwean Literature provides an important space for confronting the past and reflecting on how violence continues into the present day This violent past was forgotten either through the promise of violence against those who sought to remember or by depicting the violence as a necessary tool of a never ending decolonisation process or by appealing to the logic of letting bygones be bygones For instance by claiming that the five years of the Gukurahundi genocide were a moment of madness Robert Mugabe set a climate of state sponsored amnesia which has persisted through subsequent acts of state violence and into the Mnangagwa era Drawing on key works by Shimmer Chinodya Alexander Kanengoni Yvonne Vera Novuyo Rosa Tshuma Brian Chikwava Chenjerai Hove Panashe Chigumadzi and NoViolet Bulawayo this book investigates how fictional works challenge this state sponsored amnesia in relation both to Gukurahundi and other past and ongoing forms of violence Bringing together iconic literary texts from 1980 to 2022 the book draws a common thread through the texts connected histories and highlights their role in de silencing the past Situated at the interface of memory studies and literary criticism this book will be of interest to researchers across the fields of African literature politics development and history

Housing in the Aftermath of the Fast Track Land Reform Programme in Zimbabwe Lovemore

Chipungu, Hangwelani Hope Magidimisha, 2020-12-10 This book delves into the Fast Track Land Reform Programme FTLRP in Zimbabwe to provide insight into how it facilitated the delivery of housing for low income urban households It highlights the politics of land reforms and the power of community engagement in housing development in urban areas Prior to the FTLRP the Zimbabwean governments had never embraced popular modes of housing production as key factors in urban development In the area of low income housing informal housing schemes have always been treated with apathy and indifference This left the conventional mode of housing production to be the only legitimate means to house low income households despite its shortcomings However the onset of the FTLRP in 2000 resulted in homeless urban households grasping the opportunity to invade farms for housing development Through the lenses of Marxism and Neoliberalism this book analyses housing schemes that emerged and the overall impact of the FTLRP on housing and land delivery in Harare This analysis is based on empirical evidence obtained from key informants and household surveys conducted in Harare The authors argue that the FTLRP provided a platform for innovativeness by households supported by the unpronounced national urban vision and prowess of the political leadership Hence the success of these housing schemes can be measured by acquisition of land which guarantees households access to the city However some of these housing schemes pose challenges key among them being lack of infrastructure The book concludes by presenting a new model for effective delivery of land and housing for the urban poor This is envisaged as a useful policy tool for urban planners housing experts land economists urban and regional geographers as well as sociologists political scientists and social workers engaged in public administration of land and housing Mobilities and Cosmopolitanisms in African and Afrodiasporic Literatures Anna-Leena

Toivanen, 2021-03-01 In Mobilities and Cosmopolitanisms in African and Afrodiasporic Literatures Anna Leena Toivanen explores the representations and relationship of mobilities and cosmopolitanisms in Franco and Anglophone African and Afrodiasporic literary texts from the 1990s to the 2010s Representations of mobility practices are discussed against three categories of cosmopolitanism reflecting the privileged pragmatic and critical aspects of the concept The main scientific contribution of Toivanen's book is its attempt to enhance dialogue between postcolonial literary studies and mobilities research The book criticises reductive understandings of mobility as a synonym for migration and problematises frequently made links between mobility and cosmopolitanism Mobilities and Cosmopolitanisms adopts a comparative approach to Franco and Anglophone African and Afrodiasporic literatures often discussed separately despite their common themes and parallel paths The Art of Survival Joseph Chikowero, Anna Chitando, Angeline M. Madongonda, Government

Phiri, 2015-11-25 The Art of Survival Depictions of Zimbabwe and the Zimbabwean in Crisis offers a fresh interdisciplinary examination of a period against which development in Zimbabwe is often measured one epitomized by the severe shortages and runaway inflation of 2008 While journalistic stories of the 1998 2008 era often privilege the reductive stories of woe defeat and crushed hopes this volume explores how survival was still possible in those circumstances The book offers insights into how ordinary Zimbabweans battled the odds by making startling innovations in language use to legitimize new survival strategies how they weaved new songs and reinterpreted old ones to fight for survival how social institutions such as churches reinterpreted popular gospel and how authors playwrights and dramatists crafted works that acknowledge the unprecedented difficulties and yet find humour laughter and love in unusual places This work will appeal to both scholars who will appreciate the depth of the analysis and the general reader
