

Setting

The novel takes place in two regions during the Age of Imperialism, which are The Congo River in Africa and aboard a ship on the Thames River. The story opens on the Thames River, where Marlow talks about his experiences in the journey that make up the novel. On the deck of the Nellie, Marlow describes the Thames surroundings as a place full of lights and beauty. As the sun sets in the Thames, he starts describing the setting as 'sombre' and that this place was once dark all of the time before civilization made it shine, making a reference to the primitive darkness of Africa and the Congo River during his journey. As Marlow's journey progresses, he describes Africa and the Congo River as an uncivilized and dangerous place, almost like traveling back to the earliest beginnings of the world.

Characters

The novel revolves around two main characters, Marlow and Kurtz. The novel is mostly made up of Marlow's journey into the Belgian occupied Congo. Marlow is a curious, compassionate, and a middle class seaman who admires efficiency and joins the company in search of an adventure. Before joining the company, Marlow's thoughts on imperialism were quite vague. The experiences that Marlow has during his journey create a morale dilemma between Marlow and his internal mind. For example, when visiting the company he sees a bunch of natives working as slaves but he changes his mind and acknowledges that this practice was just to achieve maximum efficiency. On the other hand, Mr. Kurtz is a charismatic and ambitious person. He was the embodiment of imperialism. He was the most efficient ivory collector in all Africa, which attracted Marlow to him. Kurtz represents a man who realizes that to thrive in the uncivilized world, he has to act like a god, someone who can lead these "primitive" people to progress and civilization. Blinded by greed, Kurtz goes crazy and does the impossible to get more ivory.

Authenticity is a notion much debated among discussants as diverse as cultural theorists and art dealers music critics and tour operators The desire to find and somehow capture or protect the authentic narrative art object or ceremonial dance is hardly new In this masterful examination of German and American folklore studies from the eighteenth century to the present Regina Bendix demonstrates that the longing for authenticity remains deeply implicated in scholarly approaches to cultural analysis Searches for authenticity Bendix contends have been a constant companion to the feelings of loss inherent in modernization forever upholding a belief in a pristine yet endangered cultural essence and fueling cultural nationalism worldwide Beginning with precursors of Herder and Emerson and the discovery of the authentic in expressive culture and literature she traces the different albeit intertwined histories of German Volkskunde and American folklore studies A Swiss native educated in American folklore programs Bendix moves effortlessly between the two traditions demonstrating how the notion of authenticity was used not only to foster national causes but also to lay the foundations for categories of documentation and analysis within the nascent field of folklore studies Bendix shows that in an increasingly transcultural world where Zulu singers back up Paul Simon and where indigenous artists seek copyright for their traditional crafts the politics of authenticity mingles with the forces of the market Arguing against the dichotomies implied in the very idea of authenticity she underscores the emptiness of efforts to distinguish between folklore and fakelore between echt and ersatz
