biochemical and clinical data suggest that the different pathways leading to AD are distinct. The amyloid β peptide, which is secreted from the amyloid precursor protein (APP), is the main component of the amyloid plaques. The amyloid β peptide is secreted from APP by the action of the amyloid β secretase (BACE1). The amyloid β peptide is secreted from APP by the action of the amyloid β secretase (BACE1).

Abstract: This paper examines the impact of the 1997-1998 Asian financial crisis on the performance of the Thai stock market. The results show that the Thai stock market experienced a significant decline in performance during the crisis period. The decline was more pronounced for the Thai stock market than for the Asian stock market as a whole. The results also show that the Thai stock market was more volatile during the crisis period than before the crisis. The results suggest that the Thai stock market is more vulnerable to external shocks than the Asian stock market as a whole.

Q My 10-year-old son has been having a cough and a runny nose for the last 2 weeks. He has been taking over-the-counter cough syrup and decongestants, but nothing seems to be helping. Should I be concerned?

A Coughing and a runny nose are common symptoms of a viral infection, such as the common cold. However, if the symptoms persist for more than 2 weeks, it could be a sign of a more serious condition, such as allergies or asthma. I would recommend that you take your son to a pediatrician for a physical examination. The doctor will be able to determine the cause of the symptoms and recommend appropriate treatment. In the meantime, you can try to keep your son hydrated and use a humidifier to help soothe his throat.
