Pennington, 2007 A much overlooked aspect of the Gospel of Matthew is the theme of heaven and earth Rather than being a reverential circumlocution for God heaven in Matthew is part of a highly developed discourse of heaven and earth language Matthew's idiolectic way of using heaven language consists of four aspects 1 a distinction in meaning between singular and plural forms of ouranos 2 frequent use of the heaven and earth word pair 3 regular reference to the Father in heaven and 4 the recurrent use of the Matthean expression kingdom of heaven This book examines the historical precedents for each of these aspects and shows in Matthew how they serve one overriding theological purpose to highlight the tension that currently exists between heaven and earth or God and humanity while looking forward to its eschatological resolution The Houses of History Anna Green, Kathleen Troup, 1999 An introduction to the major theoretical perspectives employed by twentieth century historians Incorporates a range of approaches to the writing of history giving accounts of eleven schools of thought Each chapter begins with a description of the ideas integral to the particular theory which are then explored Gothic Transgressions Ellen Redling, Christian Schneider, 2015 The articles in this volume discuss specific ways in which the Gothic transgresses boundaries be they historical spatial national aesthetic generic modal medial or sexual Offering a wide range in every respect from Proto to Post Gothic from mythical to digital from national to Globalgothic from metropolitan to EcoGothic from traditional to Candygothic from novel to film and from Shakespeare to Steampunk this collection aims to enrich as well as extend the scholarly debate on the Gothic as a multi faceted mode of expression that goes
