Discover Tomorrow's Top Stocks . . . Today Paul H. Christiansen,2014-03-20 As the title suggests this book is all about discovering tomorrow s top performing stocks today

Tomorrow's top performing stocks are typically companies that have developed products or services that are game changers or involve disruptive technologies. What differentiates this book from other books that attempt to identify companies with game changing products or services is that readers who successfully implement the procedures outlined in this book don't have to wait months or years for the universe of investors to discover these companies. The reason readers will not have to wait months or years is that they will be able to identify stocks that are in the early stages of being discovered by a growing number of investors and are on the verge of developing strong upward trends. Stocks that have the potential to double, triple or more in stock market value. The only way a stock can become a best performing stock next week, next month or next year is if its market value develops an upward trend. The metric used in this book to identify these exciting wealth building stocks with upward trends involves an analysis of unusual volume anomalies, anomalies that typically portend the emergence of upward trends. Our Unusual Volume Metrics depict the ultimate vote of a growing number of investors, the escalating flow of money into specific stocks. The definitive research for determining if a trend following investing strategy works with stocks was conducted by Eric Crittenden and Cole Wilcox of BlackStar Funds. Their conclusions are summarized below. What we found doing this trend following research in equities is an amazing statistic. The best 5% performing stocks in any given year are responsible for a large portion of market gain. If each year for the last 20 years an investor missed the top 5% performing stocks and instead owned the other 95% of the market, he or she would have lost money as an investor. Similarly, if you randomly bought a stock and held it over the last 20 years, there is a one in five chance that the investment would have lost 100% of its equity value. We observed that nearly 20% of all stocks that went public eventually lost all their value for shareholders. So we have 5% of stocks that are really moving the needle each year and an extraordinarily large number of stocks that are doomed investments. These extreme performers are there each and every year and they have a phenomenal impact on the market. Among savvy institutional investment management firms and hedge funds, those 5% of stocks that are moving the needle are known as Alpha stocks, stocks that offer investors the potential to achieve investment returns that are significantly higher than the performance of the overall market. Small Stocks for Big Profits George Angell, 2008-09-22

Rowe Price Jr.,2013-02 America's 100 Best Growth Stocks Thomas R. Drey,1994 Profiles companies showing consistent above average gain in sales and earnings providing data on total assets revenues net income earnings and dividends per share prices and common shares outstanding The Point and Figure Method of Anticipating Stock Price Movements Victor DeVilliers,Owen Taylor,2000-06 The Growth Stock Playbook Richard Banfield,2023-02-03 Taking the first step to investing in the stock market yourself can be quite daunting Where do you start How do you know which stock is a good one How do you monitor your investments and when do you know the right time to sell your stock These are all questions that I struggled with when I first made the leap into investing in individual stocks many years ago I focused my stock picks on companies with growth potential With growth stock investing you are focusing on investing in companies that are just starting out These are companies that haven't yet reached the big leagues And by the time they reach the big league you win with typically large increases in the stock price I made my stock picks Some early investments paid off others not so much I soon found myself caught up in the market noise It was overwhelming watching the ups and downs and listening to so many opinions of what would be the next big stock to take off The stock market is a large and complex world There are so many different stakeholders with their own vested interests who do you listen to It was then that I took a step back I went back to basics I've always had an interest in understanding why some companies are successful and others struggle So that's where I focused my investment research What factors went into making a great company It didn't take me long to discover that it's less about the financials of a company and more about the key factors that a company should possess to have the best chance of winning I found that if I ignored all the noise and hype surrounding the stock market and just focused in on the key factors that I believe make a successful company then I made more successful stock picks By using these factors and I have 12 of them I've had stocks that have grown almost 2 000 percent I documented these factors over time and once I had it down to where I know it worked consistently that's when I decided to share it with other DIY investors In the Growth Stock Investing playbook I provide A 7 step playbook which shows you how to find select buy and maintain growth stocks and importantly when to sell to maximize your profits The 12 key factors that can indicate whether a company is likely to succeed and grow into a successful business and in turn create larger investment returns for you The basics on stock market investing Investing is the ultimate spectator sport But as with any game you are playing to win You can win in the stock market game You just need to know how to play the game smart and strategically from beginning to end The Point and Figure Method of Anticipating Stock Price Movements Victor De Villiers,Morgan, Rogers & Roberts, Inc,1934
