Joyce Cary. A House of Children Joyce Cary,1951 Articles by and about Joyce Cary Joyce Cary,1950 Images of Montenegro in Anglo-American Creative Writing and Film Neil Diamond,Marija Knežević,2017-01-06 This book observes images of Montenegro in Anglo American creative writing and films from the late eighteenth century until 2016 Like the Balkans as a whole Montenegro usually reappeared in the West s consciousness with the outbreak of wars but remained marginalized on the larger Balkan map because of its peripheral political influence and therefore remained little known In the past Montenegro was experienced as almost unapproachable barren and wild Its people like their mountains were seen as massive and fierce while their primitivism equally delighted and repulsed visitors Even today when one searches the Internet for Montenegro one finds titles mostly containing modifiers circling around undiscovered magical and mysterious The book follows these vignettes chronologically to point out how the rhetoric they share dangerously builds a caricature of the country However they also provide a very lively mosaic of landscapes history people their costumes houses and everyday life which are sometimes distorted No one can claim that these descriptions were not influenced by the ideologies the travellers inherited at home and were not filtered through their own cultural grids but significantly they evoke places that are now forever lost destroyed in wars by earthquakes faulty development planning or simply by time The novels of Joyce Cary Joyce Cary,1952 The novels of Joyce Cary Joyce Cary,1952 The Heroic Anthropologist Rides Again Frank A. former colonial languages in the production of African literature could only lead to sterility as African literatures can only be written in indigenous African languages In doing so Andindilile critically examines selected novels of Achebe of Nigeria Ngugi of Kenya Gordimer of South Africa and Farah of Somalia and shows that when we pay close attention to what these authors represent about their African societies and the way they integrate African languages values beliefs and cultures we can discover what constitutes the Anglophone African literary linguistic continuum This continuum can be defined as variations in the literary usage of English in African literary discourse with the language serving as the base to which writers add variations inspired by indigenous languages beliefs cultures and sometimes nation specific experiences Identity, Community, Discourse Giuseppina Cortese, Anna Duszak, 2005 Languages are inseparable from their contexts of use They are not only congruent with but also involved in the configuration of the worldviews and value systems manifested in cultures and embodied in texts The spread of English worldwide foregrounds the issue of textual dynamics in intercultural settings The production reception of texts in English facilitates international contacts and exchanges yet it also triggers hegemonic practices The volume aims to investigate the representations and negotiations of sociocognitive identities in intercultural settings relevant for good practice Contributions explore languaging strategies verbal visual multimodal English monolingual bilingual multilingual through a range of methodological perspectives wherein the respect for sociocultural differences is a constitutive value The novels of Joyce Cary Joyce Cary, 1951 Mediations between Nature and Culture Aaron K.
