Kali Puja Mantra Bengali :

The Making of Goddess Durga in Bengal: Art, Heritage and the Public Samir Kumar Das, Bishnupriya

Basak, 2021-05-21 This book examines the making of the Goddess Durga both as an art and as part of the intangible heritage of Bengal. As the original site of production of unbaked clay idols of the Hindu Goddess Durga and other Gods and Goddesses, Kumartuli remains at the centre of such art and heritage. The art and heritage of Kumartuli have been facing challenges in a rapidly globalizing world that demands constant redefinition of art with the invasion of market forces and migration of idol makers. As such, the book includes chapters on the evolution of idols, iconographic transformations, popular culture, and how the public is constituted by the production and consumption of the works of art and heritage, and finally the continuous shaping and reshaping of urban imaginaries and contestations over public space. It also investigates the caste group of Kumbhakars, Kumars, or the idol makers, reflecting on the complex relation between inherited skill and artistry. Further, it explores how the social construction of art as art introduces a tangled web of power asymmetries between art and craft, between an artist and an artisan, and between appreciation and consumption, along with their implications for the articulation of market in particular and social relations in general. Since little has been written on this heritage hub beyond popular pamphlets, documents on town planning, and travelogues, the book, written by authors from various fields, opens up cross-disciplinary conversations situating itself at the interface between art history, sociology of aesthetics, politics, and government social history, cultural studies, social anthropology, and archaeology. The book is aimed at a wide readership, including students, scholars, town planners, heritage preservationists, lawmakers, and readers interested in heritage in general and Kumartuli in particular.

The Divine Mosaic Theresa King, 1994 A journey with twenty-four women from many religious traditions who look into the face of God and tell us what they see, experience, and feel the divine in their lives. Wanderwords Maria Lauret, 2014-09-25 How do immigrant writers negotiate their representation of a multilingual world for a monolingual audience? Does their English betray the presence of another language, is that other language erased, or does it appear here and there on special occasions for special reasons? Do words and meanings wander from one language and one self to another? Do the psychic and cultural worlds of different languages split apart or merge? What is the aesthetic effect of such wandering, splitting, or merging? Usually described as code switches by linguists, fragments of other languages have wandered into American literature in English from the beginning. Wanderwords asks what in the memoirs, poems, essays, and fiction of a variety of twentieth and twenty-first century writers the function and meaning of such language migration might be. It shows what there is to be gained if we learn to read migrant writing with an eye and an ear for linguistic difference, and it concludes that freighted with the other cultural meanings wrapped up in their different looks and sounds, wanderwords can perform wonders of poetic signification as well as cultural critique. Bringing together literary and cultural theory with linguistics as well as the theory and history of migration and with psychoanalysis for its understanding of the multilingual unconscious.

Wanderwords engages closely with the work of well known and unheard of writers such as Mary Antin and Eva Hoffman Richard Rodriguez and Junot Diaz Theresa Hak Kyung Cha and Bharati Mukherjee Edward Bok and Truus van Bruinessen Susana Chvez Silverman and Gustavo Perez Firmat Pietro DiDonato and Don DeLillo In so doing a poetics of multilingualism unfolds that stretches well beyond translation into the lingual contact zone of English with other languages that is American literature belatedly re connecting with the world The "Pariah" People Asad Asaduzzaman,2001 Offering Flowers, Feeding Skulls June McDaniel,2004-08-05 In Offering Flowers Feeding Skulls June McDaniel provides an overview of Bengali goddess worship or Shakti She identifies three major forms of goddess worship and examines each through its myths folklore songs rituals sacred texts and practitioners tracing these strands through Bengali culture A Handbook of West Bengal Sanghamitra Saha,1998 West Bengal District Gazetteers West Bengal (India),1994 West Bengal District Gazetteers: 24-Parganas West Bengal (India),1994 Mother India ,1996 Woman of Power ,1988 Journal of the Asiatic Society of Bengal ,1954 Folk Elements in Bengali Life Atul Krishna Sur,1975 Towards Freedom Saswati Sengupta,Shampa Roy,Sharmila Purakayastha,2007 Rabindranath Tagore s Ghare Baire was first serialised in 1914 and published as a novel in 1916 The events in the novel deal with the period 1905-7 a period of tremendous political unrest in Bengal The public upheaval takes place alongside another revolution that of women s emancipation and a new gender equation Ghare Baire The Home and the World is the first fictional exploration of the tangled web of crucial issues related to the two spheres the home and the world in early twentieth century Bengal Towards Freedom is a collection of critical essays on the issues raised by Tagore s novel in a contemporary world where differences of religion region class caste gender etc constantly demand to be addressed It focuses upon the crafting of the novel out of complex historical contexts of caste class and gender politics By examining the play of ideologies in this novel the anthology aims to help students recognise the importance of locating imaginative literature within its histories Given that most of these structured hierarchies of oppression function powerfully in our lives even today Towards Freedom stresses the continuing relevance of engaging with the issues raised by a novel which looks at the private and the political as intertwined Kali Elizabeth U.
