Windsor, 1995-07-01 Thoth, the Hermes of Egypt Patrick Boylan, 1922 Islands of Discontent Laura Hein, Mark Selden, 2003-04-09 Exploring contemporary Okinawan culture politics and historical memory this book argues that the long Japanese tradition of defining Okinawa as a subordinate and peripheral part of Japan means that all claims of Okinawan distinctiveness necessarily become part of the larger debate over contemporary identity The contributors trace the renaissance of the debate in the burst of cultural and political expression that has flowered in the past decade with the rapid growth of local museums and memorials and the huge increase in popularity of distinctive Okinawan music and literature as well as in political movements targeting both U S military bases and Japanese national policy on ecological developmental and equity grounds A key strategy for claiming and shaping Okinawan identity is the mobilization of historical memory of the recent past particularly of the violent subordination of Okinawan interests to those of the Japanese and American

The Divine Verdict John Gwyn Griffiths,1991 The theme of divine judgement has often been treated but usually with a concentration on one of its two main aspects either that which is seen in the present life and in history or that which is believed to occur only after death This new study seeks to combine the two aspects It also tries to cover the whole spectrum of the ancient religions Special attention is given to Israel Greece and Egypt Israel's neighbours are also considered and there are discussions of Judaism Christianity and Zoroastrianism In several areas notably in Egypt and Israel it is shown that punishment in this life is sometimes presented as a fate that man brings upon himself rather than as one imposed by God though always against a moral background derived from religion The origins of judgement after death in the Judaeo Christian tradition are examined in some detail and elements are traced to Egyptian Zoroastrian and Judaic sources
