Technical Report on Toxicology and Carcinogenesis Studies of Cumene (CAS No. 98-82-8) in F344/N Rats and B6C3F1 Mice (Inhalation Studies) P. C. Chan, 2009-09 Cumene is produced in a modified Friedel Crafts reaction process Cumene is the principal chemical used in the production of phenol and acetone Cumene is used as a thinner as a constituent of some petroleum based solvents in gasoline blending diesel fuel and high octane aviation fuel and as a raw material for peroxides and oxidation catalysts Because cumene is a good solvent for fats and resins it has been suggested as a replacement for benzene in many industrial applications Cumene occurs naturally in petroleum and in a variety of foodstuffs Cumene was nominated for study because of its high production volume presence in gasoline and other fuels potential for human exposure and lack of existing carcinogenicity test data Illus

Advanced Methods in Protein Microsequence Analysis Brigitte Wittmann-Liebold, Johann Salnikow, 2012-12-06 Much of the recent spectacular progress in the biological sciences can be attributed to the ability to isolate analyze and structurally characterize proteins and peptides which are present in cells and cellular organelles in only very small amounts Recent advances in protein chemistry and in particular the application of new micromethods have led to fruitful advances in the understanding of basic cellular processes Areas where protein chemical studies have resulted in interesting discoveries include the peptide hormones and their release factors growth factors and oncogenes bioenergetics proton pumps and ion pumps and channels topogenesis and protein secretion molecular virology and immunology membrane protein analysis and receptor research In fact the key methods are now on hand to unravel many of the major outstanding problems of molecular biology and in particular questions of fundamental interest which relate to developmental biology and specificity in cell cell interaction In this volume we have assembled descriptions of procedures which have recently been shown to be efficacious for the isolation purification and chemical characterization of proteins and peptides that are only available in minute amounts Emphasis is placed on well established micromethods which have been tested and found useful in many laboratories by experienced investigators The chapters are written by specialists and describe a range of sensitive techniques which can be used by researchers working in laboratories with only modest resources and equipment
