Home And Harem Nation Gender Empire And The Cultures Of Travel Post Contemporary Interventions 1st First Edition By Grewal Inderpal 1996:

Home and Harem Inderpal Grewal, 1996-03-14 Moving across academic disciplines geographical boundaries and literary genres Home and Harem examines how travel shaped ideas about culture and nation in nineteenth century imperialist England and colonial India Inderpal Grewal's study of the narratives and discourses of travel reveals the ways in which the colonial encounter created linked yet distinct constructs of nation and gender and explores the impact of this encounter on both English and Indian men and women Reworking colonial discourse studies to include both sides of the colonial divide this work is also the first to discuss Indian women traveling West as well as English women touring the East In her look at England Grewal draws on nineteenth century aesthetics landscape art and debates about women's suffrage and working class education to show how all social classes not only the privileged were educated and influenced by imperialist travel narratives By examining diverse forms of Indian travel to the West and its colonies and focusing on forms of modernity offered by colonial notions of travel she explores how Indian men and women adopted and appropriated aspects of European travel discourse particularly the set of oppositions between self and other East and West home and abroad Rather than being simply comparative Home and Harem is a transnational cultural study of the interaction of ideas between two cultures Addressing theoretical and methodological developments across a wide range of fields this highly interdisciplinary work will interest scholars in the fields of postcolonial and cultural studies feminist studies English literature South Asian studies and comparative literature

Paul and the Politics of Diaspora Ronald Charles, 2014-11-01 It is a commonplace today that Paul was a Jew of the Hellenistic Diaspora but how does that observation help us to understand his thinking his self identification and his practice Ronald Charles applies the insights of contemporary diaspora studies to address much debated questions about Paul's identity as a diaspora Jew his complicated relationship with a highly symbolized homeland the motives of his daily work and the ambivalence of his rhetoric Charles argues for understanding a number of important aspects of Paul's identity and work including the ways his interactions with others were conditioned by his diaspora space his self understanding and his experience among the nations Diaspora space is a key concept that allows Charles to show how Paul's travels and the collection project in particular can be read as a transcultural narrative Understanding the dynamics of diaspora also allows Charles to bring new light to the conflict at Antioch Galatians 1:2 Paul's relationships with the Gentiles in Galatia and the fraught relationship with leaders in Jerusalem

Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 1996-06 Home and Harem, 2009 DIV Moving across academic disciplines geographical boundaries and literary genres Home and Harem examines how travel shaped ideas about culture and nation in nineteenth century imperialist England and colonial India Inderpal Grewal's study of the narratives and discourses of travel reveals the ways in which the colonial encounter created linked yet distinct constructs of nation and gender and explores the impact of this encounter on both English and Indian men and women Reworking colonial discourse studies to include both sides of the colonial divide this work is also the first to discuss Indian women traveling West as well as English women touring the East In her look at England Grewal draws on nineteenth century aesthetics landscape art and debates about women s suffrage and working class education to show how all social classes not only the privileged were educated and influenced by imperialist travel narratives By examining diverse forms of Indian travel to the West and its colonies and focusing on forms of modernity offered by colonial notions of travel she explores how Indian men and women adopted and appropriated aspects of European travel discourse particularly the set of oppositions between self and other East and West home and abroad Rather than being simply comparative Home and Harem is a transnational cultural study of the interaction of ideas between two cultures Addressing theoretical and methodological developments across a wide range of fields this highly interdisciplinary work will interest scholars in the fields of postcolonial and cultural studies feminist studies English literature South Asian studies and comparative literature
