Handbook of Communication and Aging Research Jon F. Nussbaum, Justine Coupland, 2004 Handbook of Communication and Aging Research, Second Edition Jon F. Nussbaum, 2004 This second edition of the Handbook of Communication and Aging Research captures the ever changing and expanding domain of aging research Much like the first edition this handbook sets out to demonstrate that aging is not only an individual proc The Handbook of Lifespan Communication Jon F. Nussbaum, 2014 This book is the foundational scholarly text that offers readers a state of the art view of the varied and rich areas of lifespan communication research Beginning with chapters on lifespan communication theory and methodologies chapters are then organized into the various phases of life early childhood adolescence emerging adulthood middle adulthood and older adulthood Communication and Aging Jon F. Nussbaum, Loretta L. Pecchioni, James D. Robinson, Teresa L. Thompson, 2013-05-13 This text employs a communication perspective to examine the aging process and the ability of individuals to adapt successfully to aging It continues the groundbreaking work of the first edition emphasizing a life span approach toward understanding the social interaction that occurs during later life The edition provides a comprehensive update on the existing and emerging research within communication and aging studies and considers such topics as notions of successful aging positive and negative stereotypes toward older adults and health communication issues It raises awareness of the barriers facing elderly people in conversation and the importance such conversations have in elderly people s lives The impact of nonrelational processes such as hearing loss are considered as they impact relationships with others and affect the ability to age successfully The book is organized into 14 chapters Each chapter is written so that the reader is presented with an exhaustive review of the pertinent and recent literature from the social sciences As in the first edition when the literature is empirically based the communicative ramifications are then discussed Readers of this volume will gain greater understanding of the importance of their communicative relationships and how significant they remain across the life span Developed for students in communication psychology nursing social gerontology sociology and related areas Communication and Aging provides important insights on communication to all who are affected by the aging process Handbook of Aging and the Social Sciences Linda George, Kenneth Ferraro, 2015-08-18 Handbook of Aging and the Social Sciences Eighth Edition presents the extraordinary growth of research on aging individuals populations and the dynamic culmination of the life course providing a comprehensive synthesis and review of the latest research findings in the social sciences of aging As the complexities of population dynamics cohort succession and policy changes modify the world and its inhabitants in ways that must be vigilantly monitored so that aging research remains relevant and accurate this completely revised edition not only includes the foundational classic themes of aging research but also a rich array of emerging topics and perspectives that advance the field in exciting ways New topics include families immigration social factors and cognition caregiving neighborhoods and built environments natural disasters

religion and health and sexual behavior amongst others Covers the key areas in sociological gerontology research in one volume with an 80% update of the material Headed up by returning editor Linda K George and new editor Kenneth Ferraro highly respected voices and researchers within the sociology of aging discipline Assists basic researchers in keeping abreast of research and clinical findings Includes theory and methods aging and social structure social factors and social institutions and aging and society Serves as a useful resource an inspiration to those searching for ways to contribute to the aging enterprise and a tribute to the rich bodies of scholarship that comprise aging research in the social sciences

Communication, Technology and Aging Neil Charness, PhD, Denise Park, PhD, Bernhard Sabel, PhD, 2000-11-08 In this volume acknowledged experts present state of the art reviews and empirical data on how aging affects personal communication and how technology can contribute to improving communication efficacy Chapters are divided into three sections The first section provides a basic overview of issues in this field The second section deals with socio cultural issues The final section addresses issues around training and compensation The volume contains new research on heretofore unexplored areas within the field of aging such as computer use and design internet use and computer literacy For gerontologists psychologists and other professionals interested in aging

Handbook of the Psychology of Aging K Warner Schaie, Sherry L. Willis, 2010-12-21 The Handbook of the Psychology of Aging Seventh Edition provides a basic reference source on the behavioral processes of aging for researchers graduate students and professionals It also provides perspectives on the behavioral science of aging for researchers and professionals from other disciplines The book is organized into four parts Part 1 reviews key methodological and analytical issues in aging research It examines some of the major historical influences that might provide explanatory mechanisms for a better understanding of cohort and period differences in psychological aging processes Part 2 includes chapters that discuss the basics and nuances of executive function the history of the morphometric research on normal brain aging and the neural changes that occur in the brain with aging Part 3 deals with the social and health aspects of aging It covers the beliefs that individuals have about how much they can control various outcomes in their life the impact of stress on health and aging and the interrelationships between health disparities social class and aging Part 4 discusses the emotional aspects of aging family caregiving and mental disorders and legal capacities in older adults Contains all the main areas of psychological gerontological research in one volume Entire section on neuroscience and aging Begins with a section on theory and methods Edited by one of the father of gerontology Schaie and contributors represent top scholars in gerontology

Aging, Communication, and Health Mary Lee Hummert, Jon F. Nussbaum, 2001-03-01 This collection highlights the current efforts by scholars and researchers to understand the aging process as it relates to the health of older adults With contributions from international scholars in communication psychology public health medicine nursing and other areas this volume emphasizes communication as a critical research education policy and practice issue for the design provision and evaluation of health and social services for older adults Organized into sections addressing communication developments in the healthcare arena issues in provider patient communication and the relationships between family communication and health The chapters cover critical topics related to successful aging such as Alzheimer's disease managed care and older adults communication issues of severe dementia and healthcare decision making within families The editors have designed this volume to be accessible to a broad audience including scholars and students of aging and communication healthcare practitioners with older clients and aging individuals and their families who are pursuing strategies for successful aging The chapters represent the highest levels of current scholarship on communication aging and health providing a strong foundation for future research Each contribution also addresses the applied implications of this research offering practical guidance to readers dealing with these issues in their own lives As a whole Aging Communication and Health represents a major advance toward understanding the importance and application of communication for successful aging

Interpersonal Communication in Older Adulthood Mary Lee Hummert, John M. Wiemann, John F. Nussbaum, 1994-09-13 This book is particularly relevant now as the baby boomer generation is aging and a greater proportion of the world's population is growing older Interpersonal communication is clearly the most critical process for promoting social integration and adaptation of older adults within society Yet understanding of the complex dynamics of interpersonal communication with the elderly is severely limited and the aged are often stigmatized stereotyped and isolated This book will help clarify the role of communication in effective social integration and adaptation of the aged by providing comprehensive and in depth analyses of relevant research and theory The book integrates information on the most important issues and contexts influencing interpersonal communication and aging and the individual chapters are written by an excellent group of authors who have demonstrated expertise on their topics The book is well organized clearly written and comprehensive The major topics are logically organized and compelling I highly recommend this book Gary L Kreps Northern Illinois University Aging obviously occurs at many levels with biological psychological and social systems showing multidirectional and interdependent changes What is less obvious is how these factors affect communication in later life This volume represents a strong contribution toward solving this problem by bringing together a group of prominent scholars with diverse perspectives on language communication and aging Elizabeth A I Stine University of New Hampshire The Hummert Wiemann and Nussbaum book brings together a strong theoretical base with the presentation of new data The chapters go well beyond the typical literature reviews usually found in edited volumes The contributors provide sophisticated presentations of a variety of socially significant and unique topics including the communicative impact of physical and cognitive changes sometimes associated with aging patronization verbosity frailty conversational skills proper names and the presentation of self Some of the chapters are strongly quantitative while others are more interpretive After building a strong rationale for the volume the editors go on to put together a series of well written chapters that provide a much needed emphasis on the social construction of relationships through communication The book should prompt much new research and advance our understanding of interpersonal communication and the aging process significantly Teresa Thompson University of Dayton The rich diversity of theoretical and methodological perspectives highlighted within the various chapters is an impressive feature of this edited collection These essays add conceptual breadth and depth to our understanding of interpersonal communication and the process of aging Mary Anne Fitzpatrick Department of Communication Arts University of Wisconsin This book is a valuable addition to the gerontological literature Written from the perspective of the communication researcher it brings together existing literature and offers new insights to gerontologists working in many social science disciplines I recommend Interpersonal Communication in Older Adulthood as a resource to any scholars interested in older adults Victor G Cicirelli Professor of Developmental and Aging Psychology Purdue University This book is very timely Communication is offering a new wave of aging research and interpersonal processes in communication are where our experiences and our personal theories of aging are grounded This book brings together many of the researchers who are breaking new ground in communication and aging It offers a valuable overview of where we have gone in aging theory communicatively and where we need to go Interpersonal Communication in Older Adulthood demonstrates the rich diversity of methods and traditions of communication research that are beginning to illuminate gerontology Nikolas Coupland University of Wales Cardiff By highlighting the commonalities across a range of disciplines Interpersonal Communication in Older Adulthood provides a unique and broad based perspective on communication and aging This integrative approach brings together the best of the current research and theory from communication cognitive psychology psycholinguistics and medical sociology The underlying framework of the book centers around three topics cognition language and relationships exploring the individual areas as well as the ways they intersect In addition this volume brings to light the implications of the elderly population s individual differences as they affect communication and illustrates the positive as well as the negative effects of the aging process on language production relational satisfaction and other communication related variables This major reference source Interpersonal Communication in Older Adulthood is essential reading for anyone concerned with the issues of aging and communication Understanding Communication and Aging Jake Harwood,Christine Kunkle,2023-10-31 This book explores communication in older adulthood particularly in the areas of interpersonal intercultural and mass communication and includes coverage of communication using new technology The book synthesizes existing research and builds a case for more positive attitudes towards aging and for the power of communication to shape such attitudes A succinct mix of the conceptual and the practical the authors acknowledge the importance of theory yet also emphasize that communication and aging is inherently an applied field of study Chapters include profiles of older adults and their significant achievements literary and artistic depictions of aging and information boxes that discuss myths about aging and keys to aging successfully There are also numerous exercises and activities to help engage readers While retaining the structure of previous editions the content of this version has been substantially updated including the addition of the Communicative Ecology Model of Successful Aging CEMSA in Chapter 4 The authors provide enhanced coverage of diversity of race culture age and sexual orientation as well as more diverse ways of doing aging There is also more focus in this edition on older adults romantic lives spirituality and their use of media and technology Forward thinking in approach and coverage this book is ideal for courses in communication gerontology nursing and family studies

Aging and Communication Prakash C. Sharma, 1978 Handbook of Gerontology Research Methods Leigh Riby, 2016-12-08 The Handbook of Gerontology Research Methods offers a clear understanding of the most important research challenges and issues in the burgeoning field of the psychology of aging As people in developed countries live longer so a range of research methods has evolved that allows a more nuanced understanding of how we develop psychological and neurologically Allied to this is an increasing concern with the idea of well being a concept which places cognitive performance and development within a more socially grounded context With contributions from a range of top international scholars the book addresses both typical and atypical aging highlighting key areas such as physical and cognitive exercise nutrition stress diabetes and issues related to death dying and bereavement Successful ageing is emphasised throughout the text Each chapter concludes with a series of practical tips on how to undertake successful research in this area This unique collection is the first book to provide both a concise overview of the major themes findings and current controversies in this growing field as well as an understanding of the practical issues when researching older adults which may impact on research outcomes intervention policy and future directions Designed for both students and researchers interested in the psychology of aging but also highly relevant for students or researchers in related fields such as health psychology and social care the Handbook of Gerontology Research Methods is essential reading for anyone wishing to understand more about the psychology of aging

Technology for Adaptive Aging Steering Committee for the Workshop on Technology for Adaptive Aging, Board on Behavioral, Cognitive, and Sensory Sciences, 2004-03-30 Emerging and currently available technologies offer great promise for helping older adults even those without serious disabilities to live healthy comfortable and productive lives What technologies offer the most potential benefit What challenges must be overcome what problems must be solved for this promise to be fulfilled How can federal agencies like the National Institute on Aging best use their resources to support the translation from laboratory findings to useful marketable products and services Technology for Adaptive Aging is the product of a workshop that brought together distinguished experts in aging research and in technology to discuss applications of technology to communication education and learning employment health living environments and transportation for older adults It includes all of the workshop papers and the report of the committee that organized the workshop The committee report synthesizes and evaluates the points made in the workshop papers and recommends priorities for federal support of translational research in technology for older adults

Human Communication and the Aging Process Carl W. Carmichael, Carl H. Botan, Robert Hawkins, 1988

Cross-cultural Communication and Aging in the United States Hana Noor Al-Deen, 2013-10-18 Recently the communication discipline has devoted increasing energy toward the study of aging yet most of the research has insufficiently addressed a crucial factor in communicative relationships culture Meanwhile cross cultural intercultural communication has not adequately addressed the aging process Combining three powerful elements communication aging and culture all of which have an increasingly profound impact on today's multicultural society this book focuses on older Americans in various communicative contexts within the framework of their cultures Composed of original research by experts in their respective fields the book combines communication aging and culture for a unique examination of those elements in American society Section 1 deals with perspectives in cross cultural communication and aging These perspectives both illustrate the issues that greatly affect the lives of our elders and suggest ways to improve their status Section 2 showcases three American co cultures Hawaiian Arab and Mormon illustrate how language attitudes and mentoring can serve as the links for maintaining cross generational continuity in multicultural society Section 3 demonstrates that many American organizations frequently contribute to the hardships that both internal elder customers employees and external elder customers residents and patients must endure Section 4 incorporates popular culture and aging It presents the role of selective popular media in portraying our elders Because Americans rely heavily on the media their mediated perceptions can have a profound impact on their attitudes toward the older population Designed as a reader or supplementary text for college students in communication gerontology anthropology sociology and other related fields this text can also be used by professionals in gerontological service areas by libraries and as a personal reference It offers extensive appendices figures and tables for additional reference

The Cambridge Handbook of Cognitive Aging Ayanna K. Thomas, Angela Gutches, 2020-05-28 Decades of research have demonstrated that normal aging is accompanied by cognitive change Much of this change has been conceptualized as a decline in function However age related changes are not universal and decrements in older adult performance may be moderated by experience genetics and environmental factors Cognitive aging research to date has also largely emphasized biological changes in the brain with less evaluation of the range of external contributors to behavioral manifestations of age related decrements in performance This handbook provides a comprehensive overview of cutting edge cognitive aging research through the lens of a life course perspective that takes into account both behavioral and neural changes Focusing on the fundamental principles that characterize a life course approach genetics early life experiences motivation emotion social contexts and lifestyle interventions this handbook is an essential resource for researchers in cognition aging and gerontology
