Tantra is a body of theories, techniques, and rituals developed in India in antiquity which has two fundamental aspects. The first aspect of the Tantra is the theory of creation which posits that the universe has no beginning and no end and that all its manifestations are merely the projections of divine energy of its creator. The second aspect of the Tantra is the belief that the performance of tantric techniques and rituals facilitates access to this divine energy, enabling their practitioners to empower themselves as well as empower others associated with them in the guru-disciple relationship. Thus, the knowledge and proper application of tantric techniques and rituals is believed to harness the creator's cosmic energies to the promotion of the mundane as well as spiritual goals of their practitioners.

Between the VII and the XII centuries A.D., these theories, rituals, and practices spread to other parts of Asia. In these parts, their interaction with indigenous traditions of shamanism and other magical cults resulted in potent hybrids. These not only served the personal needs of their practitioners but were used by the kings to summon the cosmic forces to legitimize their right and power to rule. The ancient monarchies elaborate and artistically beautiful icons were developed in sculpture, painting, bronze, and bas-relief to portray the basic concept of tantric theories and various deities of the Hindu and Buddhist pantheons.

This book first explores the origin of the Tantra in India, its development, and emergence of various schools of Hindu and Buddhist tantrism over the centuries. Then it explores their spread from tantric universities in Bihar and other centres of tantric scholarship and rituals practised in West Bengal, Orissa, and South India at that time to Nepal, Tibet, Mongolia, China, Japan, and Indonesia. The coloured plates illustrate the iconographic presentation of the basic theories and concepts of the Tantra as well as various deities associated with the pantheons of Hindu and Buddhist tantrism drawn from different parts of the world.

the rolling centuries Buddhism and Hinduism two of the world's oldest sustained faiths came to evolve a complex yet precisely defining iconic language not just for figural representations but for the architectural plans of their temples and monuments as well a language that allows interpretations of geometric proportions Here is the first ever effort to brilliantly unravel the iconic idiom involved in the architectural plans of Buddhist and Hindu temples and monuments of India and the Indianized States of Southeast Asia With his in-depth surveys of diverse Buddhist and Hindu temples in India Sri Lanka Java Indonesia Kambuja Myanmar Thailand Vietnam and even Malaysia the author shows how the basic element in their architecture the PLAN conceived within a cosmological framework was fraught with iconographic import and input necessitating the guidance of authoritative compendia like the Manasara and the Mayamata the arcane knowledge of the sthapati priest architect and many other complex procedures which all were steeped in symbolism In analysing the architectural plans of these temples Professor Bunce also highlights the various related iconographic considerations like orientation basic geometric forms construction methods rules and ratios the non congregational necessity the high place as a consideration as well as the cave besides a number of viable influences which exert various amounts of control e.g textual philosophic theologic numerological astrological astronomical regionality and most importantly the mandala Generously supported by visual material comprising as many as 400 figures and line drawings Professor Bunce's book is veritably a monumental off-beat exercise of enormous interest to iconographers as well as the historians specialists of South and Southeast Asian temple architecture
