English as a Lingua Franca in Latin American Education Sonia Morán Panero, Maritza M. Martínez-Sánchez, Gloria J. Ronzón-Montiel, 2024-10-21 ELF researchers have been describing the dynamic and fluid ways in which multilingual speakers shape English in transcultural communication for more than two decades now While this work seriously challenges traditional static and prejudiced views of English the diverse and variable nature of its uses and users continues to be undermined in many EFL programs around the world This is also the case in many Latin American contexts which have been described as fertile ground for native speaker ideology but where the body of ELF literature is still scarce when compared to Asian and European settings This book is the first to bring together a series of empirical studies on the implications of ELF perspectives for communicative educational and policy making practices across different Latin American countries It not only explores how ELF perspectives can inform students and educators in these settings but also how locally emerging voices experiences and research traditions can help expand ELF theorising as well The volume generates new opportunities for dialogue and global collaboration between researchers and practitioners interested in ELF studies as a critical approach to English language use and education

Professional Education at Historically Black Colleges and Universities Tiffany Fountaine Boykin, Adriel Hilton, Robert Palmer, 2017-08-07 This book focuses on the significant role that professional education programs play at historically Black colleges and universities HBCUs and these programs impact on society Chapter authors discuss the contexts and experiences of students who have attended these programs including their relationships with faculty research opportunities professional growth personal enrichment and institutional support Taking into account social supports identity development and doctoral student socialization patterns this book sheds light on what development and status of such professional education programs mean for future research and practice while emphasizing issues of race oppression and marginalization A Qualitative Approach to Translation Studies Elisa Calvo,Elena de la Cova,2023-12-22 This collection invites readers to explore innovative or underexploited ways of working qualitatively with what in Translation Studies may be termed as elusive constructs The volume adopts a functionalist approach to focus on one such concept namely the notion of translation problem using case studies to illustrate how a significant elusive construct can be addressed empirically It explores different qualitative research methodologies which although well established in other fields are yet to be extensively used in TS but which may nevertheless prove to be of significance for future studies as they allow elusive concepts typically found in TS to be worked with more coherently Chapters are structured around two core ideas first the qualitative systematic analysis of source text content with emphasis on the detection of translation problems as a means of creating efficient frameworks for coherent decision making from a functional perspective and secondly the practical process of stereotyping and profiling specific problems within different contexts content types or services to help identify manage and resolve them in a number of settings from research to professional translator training and assessment environments This book will be of interest to scholars in translation studies particularly those with an interest in qualitative approaches Case Research in Public Management David E McNabb,2014-12-18 Highly readable and non technical this handbook is designed to help students and non profit managers gain a working knowledge of the principles and practices of conducting qualitative case study research in public organizations This book is a motherload of practical and comprehensive guidance to planning conducting analyzing and reporting case research project findings McNabb begins with a detailed rationale for the use of the case research approach in public administration non profit organizations and political science Then it provides step by step instructions on how to conduct single case multicas e and meta analysis research with guidelines on organizing and writing the case report Case Research in Public Management also includes many examples of case studies in a wide range of important topics in public administration including performance management sustainable government technology management security issues emergency and disaster management social and health services infrastructure public transportation and transforming the work of government Followership Development and Enactment among the Acholi of Uganda David Wesley Ofumbi,2019-07-25 The industrial era organizations used dualistic leadership theory which regarded followers as objects of leaders influence to socialize them into passive followership irrespective of context and outcome Consequently organizations focused on leadership and condemned active followership as a toxic behavior that sabotages organizational processes and outcomes However the emergence of relational leadership theory in the information era flattened organizational structure which created a greater need for collaboration within and across sectors In this new era organizations cannot survive without responsible individuals who could be productive as both leaders and followers As a result organizations are experiencing high demand for active followership throughout organizational ranks roles and relationships Nonetheless since followership studies are still in their infancy there is hardly any information on how followers develop and enact active followership Whereas some studies established followership identity role and behaviors and identified factors influencing their development none has explored how they do so This study offers a theory of followership development and enactment anchored in a seamless paradigm that can be used to expand leadership theory beyond dualistic tendencies that absolutized the differences among leadership variables despite their seamlessness Therefore it enhances organizational desire and capacity to develop and engage star followers effectively

Effects of Alevi-Sunni Marriages on Children's Religious Education and Family Relations Dr. Fatma Kurttekin, 2024-12-31 In this study the views of parents in Alevi Sunni marriages on the phenomenon of religion and their children's religious education are examined While there has been a growing body of research on the role and significance of religion in Alevi Sunni families limited attention has been paid to their attitudes towards their children's religious education particularly within the context of cross religious marriages Based on this this study aims to fill this research gap by examining the perspectives of parents in Alevi Sunni marriages on their children's religious education and family dynamics using qualitative methods to provide in depth insights Ten families living in Sivas Ankara and Tunceli who were contacted through snowball and purposive sampling participated in the study in which qualitative research techniques were used The data used in the study were collected through questionnaires and semi structured interview forms The data was analyzed with the content analysis It was determined that the Alevi Sunni difference did not have a significant impact on the participants religious attitudes or their children's religious education Almost all parents stated that they wanted their children to choose their own path by acquiring experience and knowledge about both religious interpretations understandings The study identified two primary areas of difficulty in Alevi Sunni families familial opposition to the participants decision to marry and conflicts surrounding the children's religious education These tensions may stem from societal pressures to conform to sectarian norms and the fear of losing religious identity through cross mixed intrafaith marriages Such pressures highlight the need for open dialogue and acceptance within families which many participants reported as key to resolving conflicts The provision of religious education in the family and the religious identity of children have been discussed in a separate study Therefore in this study participants views on compulsory religious education activities which are also a subject of debate in society were evaluated In parallel with the findings in the literature the participants opinions were grouped in three categories namely abolishing the courses making the courses optional and improving the courses along with preserving their compulsory status Following the interviews it was seen that the participants could have arguments mostly due to external factors and that their own religious understanding did not have any impact on family life religious attitudes or child rearing Attention was drawn to the need for freedom from prejudices
