Sharks And Rays Of The World:

Reef Sharks and Rays of the World Scott W. Michael, 2006 Sharks and Rays of the World Doug Perrine, 2003-05-01
Examines the natural history and evolution of various species of sharks and rays members of the same subclass describing their physical characteristics feeding reproduction and human encounters Rays of the World Peter Last, Gavin Naylor, Bernard Séret, William White, Marcelo de Carvalho, Matthias Stehmann, 2016-12 Rays are among the largest fishes and evolved from shark like ancestors nearly 200 million years ago They share with sharks many life history traits all species are carnivores or scavengers all reproduce by internal fertilisation and all have similar morphological and anatomical characteristics such as skeletons built of cartilage Rays of the World is the first complete pictorial atlas of the world's ray fauna and includes information on many species only recently discovered by scientists while undertaking research for the book It includes all 26 families and 633 valid named species of rays but additional undescribed species exist for many groups Rays of the World features a unique collection of paintings of all living species by Australian natural history artist Lindsay Marshall compiled as part of a multinational research initiative the Chondrichthyan Tree of Life Project Images sourced from around the planet were used by the artist to illustrate the fauna This comprehensive overview of the world's ray fauna summarises information such as general identifying features and distributional information about these iconic but surprisingly poorly known fishes It will enable readers to gain a better understanding of the rich diversity of rays and promote wider public interest in the group Rays of the World is an ideal reference for a wide range of readers including conservationists fishery managers scientists fishers divers students and book collectors The Biology of Sharks and Rays A. Peter Klimley, 2013-07-31 The Biology of Sharks and Rays is a comprehensive resource on the biological and physiological characteristics of the cartilaginous fishes sharks rays and chimaeras In sixteen chapters organized by theme A Peter Klimley covers a broad spectrum of topics including taxonomy morphology ecology and physiology For example he explains the body design of sharks and why the ridged toothlike denticles that cover their entire bodies are present on only part of the rays bodies and are absent from those of chimaeras Another chapter explores the anatomy of the jaws and the role of the muscles and teeth in jaw extension seizure and handling of prey The chapters are richly illustrated with pictures of sharks diagrams of sensory organs drawings of the body postures of sharks during threat and reproductive displays and maps showing the extent of the species foraging range and long distance migrations Each chapter commences with an anecdote from the author about his own personal experience with the topic followed by thought provoking questions and a list of recommended readings in the scientific literature The book will be a useful textbook for advanced ichthyology students as well as an encyclopedic source for those seeking a greater understanding of these fascinating creatures Sharks and Rays of the World (elasmobranch Fishes), 1999 A Look Inside Sharks and Rays Keith Edward Banister, 1995 Describes the world of sharks and rays and explains their lives and behavior As each page is turned acetate windows reveal layer by layer the

An Illustrated Pocket Guide to the Sharks of the World David A. Ebert, Sarah Fowler, Sarah L. Fowler, 2014-06-16 Sharks are probably the most misunderstood animals on the planet We all still have a lot to learn about these fascinating creatures which are sadly more seriously threatened with extinction and in greater need of conservation and management action than any other major group of vertebrates We have produced this guide not just because we and so many other people love sharks It is also because their identification whether of living animals fishery catches or body parts sold at markets is an essential tool to support shark conservation fisheries management and international trade regulation prevent further depletion of stocks and enable their recovery the first pocket guide to all 501 shark species all species illustrated and described handy compact format with concise text a six page guide to shark teeth identification an eight page guide to the identification of the shark fins most commonly encountered in the fin trade Colour plates are by Marc Dando from the hugely acclaimed Sharks of the World A Fully Illustrated Guide

A study of shark and ray non-fin commodities in Indonesia Muttakin, E., Simeon, B., Dharmadi, M.I., Prasetyo, A.P., Booth, H., Yulianto, I., 2024-07-16 The work presented here summarizes published research from Indonesia also linked to an FAO summary plus studies from India Indonesia and Peru In collaboration with various country programmes and local research groups the Food and Agriculture

Organization of the United Nations FAO examined shark and ray value chains The goal was to provide valuable information for fisheries and environmental agencies shedding light on the role of non fin commodities derived from sharks and rays in fisheries and trade To effectively conserve shark and ray resources we must adopt a more holistic understanding of their fisheries and markets Historically the focus has primarily centred on regulating the export of shark fins often overlooking traditional and emerging fishing practices and markets related to other elasmobranch products such as meat skin cartilage liver oil and gill plates Due to limited examination of non fin commodities we lack clarity on their sources the extent of exploitation and their significance as drivers of elasmobranch utilization This report aims to shift attention towards non fin commodities in shark and ray management By doing so we hope to expand the range of potential interventions that can be employed to achieve sustainable elasmobranch fisheries a critical source of food security nutrition and livelihoods for coastal communities worldwide

Shadows in the Sea Harold W. McCormick, 2017-08-08 Captain Young and I for some years have been gathering material from all over the world about the Selachians the Sharks Skates Rays and their allies of which there are more than 600 known species We originally intended merely to up date Captain Young s book Shark published by Gotham House in 1934 and now a collector s item but as the material ever expanded it was decided that an entirely new book covering a much broader field was needed Adaterial was collected from all over the world for many years When Captain Young and I felt that the research was nearly completed we called upon Tom Allen an experienced newspaperman to aid us in transforming the research material into a book Tom and I continued the research up to and beyond the completion of the manuscript Tom also did further research and added new material in the course of writing the book In all scientific classifications the Selachians are separated clearly from the Teleosteans or Bony Fishes and there are even leading ichthyologists ho do not regard the former as fishes at all but rather as representing a separate and distinct Class of animal life

Sharks and Their Relatives Merry Camhi, 1998 Sharks and their relatives the rays and chimaeras are the diverse group of cartilaginous fishes that have evolved over 400 million years Historically considered of low economic value to large scale fisheries today many of these fishes have become the target of directed commercial and recreational fisheries around the world and they are increasingly taken in the by catch of fisheries targeting other species This report emphasizes the widely acknowledged need to improve shark fishery monitoring expand biological research and take management action It serves as an introduction to the ecology status and conservation of the sharks and their relatives for a general audience Shark fisheries can only be managed sustainably and shark populations remain viable with the introduction of new conservation and management initiatives

The Marine World Frances Dipper, 2021-06-08 The Marine World is a book for everyone with an interest in the ocean from the marine biologist or student wanting expert knowledge of a particular group to the naturalist or diver exploring the seashore and beyond With colour illustrations line drawings more than 1 500 colour photographs and with clear accessible text this book encompasses all those organisms that live in on and around the ocean bringing together in a single text everything from the minuscule to the immense It includes sections on all but the most obscure marine groups covering invertebrate phyla from sponges to sea squirts as well as plants fungi bacteria fish reptiles mammals and birds It incorporates information on identification distribution structure biology ecology classification and conservation of each group addressing the questions of what where and how Today global warming overfishing ocean acidification and pollution are just a few of the ever increasing number of threats and challenges faced by ocean life Without knowledge of the animals plants and other organisms that live in the marine world we cannot hope to support or implement successful conservation and management measures nor truly appreciate the incredible wealth and variety of marine life The Marine World is the product of a lifetime spent by Frances Dipper happily observing and studying marine organisms the world over It has been brought to colourful life by a myriad of enthusiastic underwater photographers and by Marc Dando the renowned natural history illustrator
