Shopgirl Steve Martin:

Shopgirl Steve Martin, 2001-07-01 One of the most acclaimed and beloved entertainers Steve Martin is quickly becoming recognized as a gorgeous writer capable of being at once melancholy and tart achingly innocent and astonishingly ironic Elle A frequent contributor to both The New Yorker and the New York Times as well as the author of the New York Times bestseller Pure Drivel Martin is once again poised to capture the attention of readers with his debut novella a delightful depiction of life and love The shopgirl is Mirabelle a beautiful aspiring artist who pays the rent by selling gloves at the Beverly Hills Neiman Marcus She captures the attention of Ray Porter a wealthy lonely businessman As Ray and Mirabelle tentatively embark on a relationship they both struggle to decipher the language of love with consequences that are both comic and heartbreaking Filled with the kind of witty discerning observations that have brought Steve Martin incredible critical success Shopgirl is a work of disarming tenderness

Shopgirl Steve Martin, 2001 Mirabelle works as a shop assistant in the glove department at Niemanns LA's finest store she also draws darkly gothic pictures at night Adrift in the world and lonely her situation is not improved by the fact that hardly anyone buys the kind of gloves that Niemanns sell so she spends most of her day leaning on the counter staring into empty space There are two men in her life Jeremy a man who stencils amplifiers for a living and Mr Ray Porter an older man and millionaire who applies logic to relationships and is serially confused and disappointed In this exquisitely self contained novel Steve Martin touches on the surface horrors of LA the false noses lips breasts and people without exaggeration or explicitly playing for laughs It's insightful dark funny and tender

Shopgirl Steve Martin, 2023-06-29 A highly acclaimed LA fable by one of Hollywood's greatest comics Is there no end to Steve Martin's talents he has shown himself in recent years to be an accomplished writer not least with this slickly written short novel Martin's writing has real charm THE TIMES Mirabelle works as a shop assistant in the glove department at Niemanns LA's finest store she also draws darkly gothic pictures at night Adrift in the world and lonely her situation is not improved by the fact that hardly anyone buys the kind of gloves that Niemanns sell so she spends most of her day leaning on the counter staring into empty space There are two men in her life Jeremy a man who stencils amplifiers for a living and Mr Ray Porter an older man and millionaire who applies logic to relationships and is serially confused and disappointed In this exquisitely self contained novel Steve Martin touches on the surface horrors of LA the false noses lips breasts and people without exaggeration or explicitly playing for laughs It's insightful dark funny and tender Shopgirl Steve

Martin, 2001-02-01 Conversations with Steve Martin Robert E. Kapsis, 2014-09-02 Conversations with Steve Martin presents a collection of interviews and profiles that focus on Martin as a writer artist and original thinker over the course of more than four decades in show business While those less familiar with his full body of work may think of Martin as primarily the wild and crazy guy with an arrow through his head this book makes the case that he is in fact one of our nation's most accomplished and varied artists It shows the full range of Martin's creative work tracing the source of his comic imagination from his early standup days starting in the mid to late 1960s through the films he has written and starred in and emphasizing his more recent creative outpourings as playwright essayist novelist memoirist songwriter composer musician and art critic Standup is the hardest material in the world to write for someone else it's like trying to condense 10 years of experience into 20 minutes of new material Martin says But commenting on his fiction writing he says I think you have to be able to find as a writer that state where you don't know what you're going to say or what the character is going to say or who the characters are That's the biggest thrill of all When you start to trust that subconscious thing and you don't censor yourself just remember you can always throw it away that's when the good stuff comes out The selected materials consist not only of pieces focused primarily on Martin's writings but also broader profiles and conversations that help explain Martin's development as a writer within the larger context of his many other accomplishments talents and performance skills this book can help Caster's Blog: A Geek Love Story Marcus Alexander Hart, 2006-03-01 Ray Caster is a regular guy who drew the short stick on life. He works in a miserable office doing a miserable job. He gets no respect from his co-workers. For that matter, he gets no respect from his friends. Caster's existence is one pathetic downward spiral of TiVo and fast food until the day his life is turned upside down by a goddess from an auto parts store. With its snappy conversational writing style, Caster's Blog captures the comedy and tragedy of geek life from a first-hand perspective. Seeing Red Pauline Sameshima, 2007 A brilliant and daring piece of scholarship, this book will raise eyebrows and spark much debate. It does not simply break new ground; it breaks all the rules, ultimately compelling us to examine and embrace scholarship in fresh, innovative ways. Seeing Red is based on Pauline Sameshima's doctoral dissertation, Winner of the 2007 Arts Based Educational Research (ABER) Outstanding Dissertation Award by the American Educational Research Association (AERA). This award is for the best dissertation that explores an exemplar of and pushes the boundaries of arts-based educational research. The book showcases a PhD dissertation written in the form of an epistolary bildungsroman, a didactic novel of personal developmental journeying. The work is a fiction of letters from a graduate student to the professor she is in love with, embedded in a developmental understanding of living the life of a teacher-researcher. The work shares the possibilities of how artful research informs processes of scholarly inquiry and honours the reader's multi-perspective as integral to the research project's transformative potential. Parallax is the apparent change of location of an object against a background due to a change in observer position or perspective shift. The concept of parallax encourages researchers and teachers to acknowledge and value the power of their own and their readers' and students' shifting subjectivities and situatedness, which directly influence the constructs of perception, interpretation, and learning. The novel format ties themes and characters together just as storytelling can bind theory and practice. Norman Denzin (2005) supports the pedagogical and liberatory nature of the critical democratic storytelling imagination. He hails this book as bold, innovative, a wild transformative text, almost unruly, a new vision for critical reflexive inquiry. The love story and issues of teacher/learner role boundaries are controversial and largely unspoken of in educational settings, and the letter format is voyeuristic. In this sense, the audience is being given a peek, a look at the unrevealed. One of the advantages of the epistolary novel is its semblance of reality and the difficulty for readers to distinguish the text from genuine correspondence. Wurzbach (1969) notes that the genre allows the reader access to the writing character's intimate thoughts without perceived interference from the author's manipulation and conveys events with dramatic and sensational immediacy. Carafi (1997).

Coming of Age in Films Mario Garrett, 2019-02-14 The story of films is the story of human development. From the very first story that defined the birth of our civilization, the Sumerian Epic of Gilgamesh, a story of immortality, aging, and death, comes a tale of why we age. We are a species of storytellers. The stories we tell to each other define who we are. However, since we are living in a world marked by age apartheid, our interaction with people across different generations is becoming more limited As a result the information we gain about older people comes mostly from secondary sources For the general public films remain the most accessible form of information regarding getting older From the early exposure of cartoons to more elaborate dramas our knowledge of what it means to become old relies on our exposure to films This volume provides insight into how accurate these representations are in line with current knowledge that we have about aging and older adults Arguing that films present a simplified view of aging this analysis relies on scientific evidence to explore why and how such stereotypes affect us Stereotypes have the ability of being internalized and becoming prescriptive of our behavior Numerous studies have attempted different ways of understanding the impact films have on aging Theories as seemingly disparate as feminism and disability have contributed to our understanding of how stereotypes influence our aging process This text builds upon this knowledge and provides new insights by applying current gerontological knowledge the science of aging to unpack and analyze the images of aging that films are providing By readdressing this focus on gerontological theories as diverse as biology and psychology the book readdresses an overlooked approach
