Building Children's Worlds Torsten Schmiedeknecht, Jill Rudd, Emma Hayward, 2023-03-28. Children are the future architects, clients, and users of our buildings. The kinds of architectural worlds they are exposed to in picturebooks during their formative years may be assumed to influence how they regard such architecture as adults. Contemporary urban environments, the world over, represent the various stages of modernism in architecture. This book reads that history through picturebooks and considers the kinds of national identities and histories they construct Twelve specialist essays from international scholars address questions such as Is modern architecture used to construct specific narratives of childhood Is it taken to support negative narratives of alienation on the one hand and positive narratives of happiness on the other Do images of modern architecture support ideas of community Reinforce family values If so what kinds of architecture community and family How is modern architecture placed vis vis the promotion of diversity ethnic religious gender etc How might the use of architecture in comic strips or the presence of specific kinds of building in fiction aimed at younger adults be related to the groundwork laid in picturebooks for younger readers This book reveals what stories are told about modern architecture and shows how those stories affect future attitudes towards and expectations of the built environment
