Cities Change And Conflict Freesm:

Cities, Change, and Conflict Nancy Kleniewski, Alexander R. Thomas, 2019-03-04 Cities Change and Conflict was one of the first texts to embrace the perspective of political economy as its main explanatory framework and then complement it with the rich contributions found in the human ecology perspective. Although its primary focus is on North American cities, the book contains several chapters on cities in other parts of the world including Europe and developing nations, providing both historical and contemporary accounts on the impact of globalization on urban development. This edition features new coverage of important recent developments affecting urban life, including the implications of racial conflict in Ferguson, Missouri, and elsewhere; recent presidential urban strategies; the new waves of European refugees; the long-term impacts of the Great Recession as seen through the lens of Detroit's bankruptcy; new and emerging inequalities; and an extended look into Sampson's Great American City: Beyond, examining the dynamics that shape the form and functionality of cities. The text surveys the experience of urban life among different social groups, including immigrants, African Americans, women, and members of different social classes. It illuminates the workings of the urban economy, local and federal governments, and the criminal justice system, and also addresses policy debates and decisions that affect almost every aspect of urbanization and urban life.

Urban Change and Conflict Open University. Faculty of Social Sciences, 1982 Urban Change and Citizenship in Times of Crisis Bryan S. Turner, Hannah Wolf, Gregor Fitzi, Jürgen Mackert, 2020-04-07 At times of triumphant neo-liberalism, cities increasingly become objects of financial speculation. Formally, social and political rights might not be abolished; yet factually, they have become inaccessible for large parts of the population. The contributions gathered in this volume shed light on the clash between the perspectives of restructuring and reordering urban environments in the interest of investors and the manifold and innovative agencies of resistance that claim and stand up for the rights of urban citizenship. Renewed waves of urban transformation employ state coercion to foster the expulsion of poor and marginalised inhabitants from those urban spaces that attract interest from speculators. The intervention of state agencies triggers the work of hegemonic culture for reframing the housing issue and implementing moral and political legitimization, as well as legislation that restricts urban citizenship rights. The case studies of the volume comparatively show the different and sometimes contradictory patterns of these conflicts in Berlin, Sydney, Belfast, Jerusalem, Amsterdam, and Istanbul, as well as in metropolises of Latin America and China. Innovative resistance agencies emerge that paint possible paths for the re-establishment of the right to the city as the core of urban citizenship.

Urban Environmentalism Peter Charles Brand, Michael J. Thomas, 2005 A critical examination of urban policies and management practices used to make cities sustainable With an international perspective the book describes urban environmental agendas and how they arose in the context of globalization urban economic restructuring and the need to make cities competitive It argues that the environment became an integral part of city development policy turning attention not only to physical and ecological issues but also to improving the economic performance of cities and the lives of citizens The authors also go beyond the technical issues to explore the political importance of urban environmentalism using case studies to illustrate both its international scope and place specific characteristics which are inexorably influencing city development throughout the world In connecting the concept to its political effects the book raises issues such as local democracy equality and social regulation all of which are increasingly concerning academics professionals environmentalists and city authorities alike

Negotiating Urban Conflicts Helmuth Berking, Sybille Frank, Lars Frers, Martina Löw, Lars Meier, Silke Steets, Sergej Stoetzer, 2015-09-15 Cities have always been arenas of social and symbolic conflict As places of encounter between different classes ethnic groups and lifestyles cities play the role of powerful integrators yet on the other hand urban contexts are the ideal setting for marginalization and violence The struggle over control of urban spaces is an ambivalent mode of sociation while producing themselves groups produce exclusive spaces and then in turn use the boundaries they have created to define themselves This volume presents major urban conflicts and analyzes modes of negotiation against the theoretical background of postcolonialism

Bordered Cities and Divided Societies Scott A. Bollens, 2021-03-17 Bordered Cities and Divided Societies is a provocative moving and poetic encounter with the hearts and minds of individuals living in nine cities of conflict violence and healing Jerusalem Belfast Johannesburg Nicosia Sarajevo Mostar Barcelona Bilbao and Beirut Based on research spanning 25 years including 360 interviews and over two and a half years of in country field research this innovative work employs a series of concise reflective narrative essays grouped into four thematic sections to provide a humanistic on the ground understanding of divided cities conflict and peacemaking Incorporating both scholarly analyses based on empirical research and introspective essays Bollens digs underneath grand narratives of conflict to illuminate the complexities and paradoxes of living amid nationalistic political strife and the challenges of planning and policymaking in divided societies Richly illustrated the book includes informative synopses about the cities that provide access for general readers while extensive connections to recent literature enhance the book's research value to scholars

The Radicals' City: Urban Environment, Polarisation, Cohesion Dr Ralf Brand, Dr Sara Fregonese, 2013-08-28 Bringing together comparative case studies from Belfast Beirut Amsterdam and Berlin this book examines the role of the urban environment in social polarisation processes In doing so it provides a timely and refreshingly innovative voice in the confusing babble on counter terrorism urban conflict and community cohesion Despite their socio political differences these cities are telling cases of how the location and shape of very mundane objects such as rubbish bins bridges clothes stores shopping malls and cafés in addition to the obvious fences walls and barbed wire are often subject to heated controversies and influence the way urban conflict is lived and practised Within a Science and Technology Studies STS theoretical framework the authors provide a systematic analysis of these four cities and provide many concrete and richly illustrated examples of material agency without losing sight of their specific historical political geographical and social conditions The STS angle permits some surprising yet extremely convincing conclusions which are of use not only for a range of practitioners but also to scholars interested in the social shaping processes and the consequences of urban artefacts The authors argue that although architecture and urban design is clearly not the sole cause of conflict and polarisation neither is it completely innocent Conversely it cannot be the silver bullet to solve related problems and to create community cohesion However the materiality of our cities must not be ignored in fact it can and should be enrolled in our efforts The book contains detailed descriptions of such positive cases as inspiration for practitioners as diverse as policy makers architects urban designers planners community workers consultants or police officers

Cities in Transition Rita Schneider-Sliwa, 2006-01-23 This book was written with the aim of showing that even in the era of globalization developments appearing in cities are not subject to almost unconditional global forces Rather universal forces are decisive eventualities in the process of urban restructuring often influencing its course and speed yet developments and particularities within a city strongly influence the course of events and the extent to which negative characteristics of globalization might occur Berlin Brussels Hanoi Ho Chi Minh City Hong Kong Jerusalem Johannesburg Moscow St Petersburg Sarajevo and Vienna Using these important cities the special relationship between global and local regional forces is analyzed The case studies were selected based on their political and cultural context and the fact that their social and political fabric was subject to major changes in the recent past How global processes manifest themselves locally depends to a great extent on how development processes and endogenic potentials are initiated locally in order to cope with the new global economic and societal conditions

Cities and Social Change Ronan Paddison, Eugene McCann, 2014 This textbook of essays by leading critical urbanists is a compelling introduction to an important field of study it interrogates contemporary conflicts and contradictions inherent in the social experience of living in cities that are undergoing neoliberal restructuring and grapples with profound questions and challenging policy considerations about diversity equity and justice A stimulant to debate in any undergraduate urban studies classroom this book will inspire a new generation of urban social scholars Alison Bain York University Stages a lively encounter with different and

Urban Change and Citizenship in Times of Crisis Bryan S. Turner, Hannah Wolf, Gregor Fitzi, Jürgen Mackert, 2020-04-07 Urban Change and Citizenship in Times of Crisis addresses the fact that in the beginning of the twenty first century the majority of the world's population is urbanised a social fact that has turned cities more than ever into focal sites of social change Multiple economic and political strategies employed by a variety of individual and collective actors on a number of scales constitute cities as contested spaces that hold opportunities as well as restrictions for their inhabitants While cities and urban spaces have long been of central concern for the social sciences today classical sociological questions about the city acquire new meaning Can cities be spaces of emancipation or does life in the modern city entail a corrosion of citizenship rights Is the city the focus of societal transformation processes or do urban environments lose importance in shaping social reality and economic relationships Furthermore new questions urgently need to be asked What is the impact of different historical phenomena such as neo liberal restructuring financial and economic crises or migration flows as well as their respective counter movements on the structure of contemporary cities and on the citizenship rights of city inhabitants The three volumes address such crucial questions thereby opening up new spaces of debate on both the city and new developments of urbanism The contributions to Theories and Concepts offer new theoretical reflections on the city in a philosophical and historical perspective as well as fresh empirical analyses of social life in urban contexts Chapters not only critically revisit classical and modern philosophical considerations about the nature of cities but no less discuss normative philosophical reflections of urban life and the role of religion in historical processes of the emergence of cities Composed around the question whether there can be such a thing as a successful city this volume addresses issues of urban political subjectivities by considering the city s role in historical processes of emancipation the fight for citizenship rights and today s challenges and opportunities with regard to promoting social justice integration and diversity Consequentially theory driven empirical analyses offer new insight into ways of solving problems in urban contexts and a genuine approach to analyse the Social Quality in cities Cities and Sovereignty Diane E. Davis, Nora Libertun de Duren, 2011-02-01 Cities have long been associated with diversity and tolerance but from Jerusalem to Belfast to the Basque Country many of the most intractable conflicts of the past century have played out in urban spaces The contributors to this interdisciplinary volume examine the interrelationships of ethnic racial religious or other identity conflicts and larger battles over sovereignty and governance Under what conditions do identity conflicts undermine the legitimacy and power of nation states empires or urban authorities Does the urban built environment play a role in remedying or exacerbating such conflicts Employing comparative analysis these case studies from the Middle East Europe and South and Southeast Asia advance our understanding of the origins and nature of urban conflict Urban Change and Conflict Open University. Faculty of Social Sciences, 1982 The Spatiality of Violence in Post-War Cities Emma Elfversson, Ivan Gusic, Kristine Höglund, 2020-03-31 The Spatiality of Violence in Post war Cities analyses violence in post war cities from different perspectives and in different parts of the world with a shared attention to space and how it affects violent dynamics The world is urbanising rapidly and cities are increasingly held as the most important arenas for sustainable development Cities emerging from war are no exception but across the globe many post war cities are ravaged by residual or renewed violence which threatens progress towards peace and stability This volume addresses why such violence happens where and how it manifests and how it can be prevented It includes contributions that are informed by both post war logics and urban particularities that take intra city dynamics into account and that adopt a spatial analysis of the city They focus on cases around the world including Medell n Colombia Johannesburg South Africa and Mitrovica Kosovo The volume makes a threefold contribution to the research agenda on violence in post war cities First the contributions nuance our understanding of the causes and forms of the uneven spatial distribution of violence insecurities and trauma within and across post war cities Second the collection demonstrates how urban planning and the built environment shape and generate different forms of violence in post war cities Third the contributions explore the challenges opportunities and potential unintended consequences of conflict resolution in violent urban settings Providing novel insights into the causes and dynamics of violence in post war cities and challenges and opportunities for violence reduction The Spatiality of Violence in Post war Cities will be of great interest to scholars of peace violence conflict and its resolution urban studies built environment and planning The chapters were originally published as a special issue of Third World Thematics Cities and Ethno-National Conflict Anderson, City and Soul in Divided Societies Scott A. Bollens, 2012 First Published in 2012 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Conflict in Urban Development Arie Dekker, Maria Ptaszynska-woloczko, 2020-04-02 Published in 1992 the aim of this book is to give both the professional planner and the student a feel for the current arguments alive in planning policy circles and to introduce relevant contemporary research This book has developed out of a series of seminars run at the Institute of Planning Studies at Nottingham University as part of its continuing professional development programme Each of the seminars brought together a variety of speakers who were involved with the topic under discussion from a different aspect some with academic research experience and others with practical policy implementation Most the nineteen contributors presented papers at this series of seminars but some have been rewritten others substantially revised and several have been commissioned especially for this book Four current policy issues are examined provision and pedestrians jobs for the inner cities the homeless and the relationship between planners and developers For each topic contributors were chosen who could approach the problem from a different point of view the aim being to explore each topic with direct statements and straightforward arguments leading therefore to a more stimulating breadth of this view rather than a bland overview State Intervention 1 Andrew Blowers, 1982 Cities, Conflict and State Fragility Jo Beall, Tom Goodfellow, Dennis Rodgers, London School of Economics and Political Science. Crisis States Research Centre, London School of Economics and Political Science.
