London, 1920-2000 Matti O. Hannikainen,2017-05-15 The long term development of public green spaces such as parks public gardens and recreation grounds in London during the twentieth century is a curiously neglected subject despite the fact that various kinds of green spaces cover huge areas in cities in the UK today This book explores how and why public green spaces have been created and used in London and what actors have been involved in their evolution during the course of the twentieth century Building on case studies of the contemporary boroughs of Camden and Southwark and making use of a wealth of archival material the author takes us through the planning and creation stages to the intended and actual uses and ongoing management of the spaces By highlighting the rise and fall of municipal authorities and the impact of neo liberalism after the 1970s the book also deepens our understanding of how London has been governed planned and ruled during the twentieth century It makes a crucial contribution to academic as well as political discourse on the history and present role of green space in sustainable cities The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,1996

Trustees,1871 The New European Landscape Michael Lancaster,1994 There is a deliberate ambiguity in the title The New European landscape applies both to the new designed landscapes which are the main theme of the book and to the landscape context with which I am principally concerned in the introductory chapters A City at the End of the World Vincent Barrett Price,1992 This impassioned book is a loving description and critique of Albuquerque New Mexico Familiar to many New Mexicans through the columns and articles he was written for periodicals over the years Price distills in this book his philosophy of what makes Albuquerque such an attractive place to live and shows us how to keep it that way Dust jacket
