Manthorpe, Esme Moniz-Cook, 2020-03-19 This new edited volume seeks to meet the growing need for ways to support people with dementia across the whole course and trajectory of dementia care with a wide scope of expertise The book addresses how practitioners and carers can apply psychosocial interventions which take into consideration the individual social and environmental aspects of a person's life across this trajectory right from the earliest stages through to practice in care home settings. Divided into four sections, each covers a different context in which people with dementia can be supported: at home, in community settings, family and carer support, and those in care homes and hospitals. In addition, there is a distinct focus throughout on evidence-based practice and its implementation in real-world settings. This book is essential reading for any practitioner and caregiver wanting to support people with dementia. Cognitive Stimulation Therapy Groups for People with Dementia Stavros Orfanos, 2019

Luke Gibbor, 2019. This thesis focuses on an adapted individual Cognitive Stimulation Therapy (iCST) programme for people with dementia. Part I is a systematic literature review exploring what qualitative studies of cognitive stimulation therapy (CST) can inform us about the acceptability and feasibility of CST, which components of CST are most desirable or important, and its key outcomes. It does so through a thematic analysis of perspectives from PWD carers, PWD, and facilitators of CST, and considers what this contributes to our understanding of both group and individual CST. Ten papers are included in the review. Part II is a pilot randomised controlled trial that assessed the feasibility of an adapted program of iCST and explored whether it could provide benefits to cognition and quality of life (QoL) for PWD as compared to treatment as usual (TAU). This is a joint project with Lycia Forde. LF measures of cognition and QoL were assessed at baseline and follow-up. Both papers will consider the feasibility and acceptability of the intervention; however, this paper evaluated the impact of iCST on cognition, whilst LF's paper reports on measures of QoL. Part III is a critical appraisal of this work with focus on Part II, which reflects on the challenges encountered whilst conducting research in a care home setting. It also reports on the experienced response to intervention and recommendations for delivering iCST to PWD. The Therapist's Notebook for Systemic

Teletherapy Rebecca A. Cobb, 2024-07-09. Many therapeutic activities that engage clients in in-person therapy rooms are not obviously available via telehealth. Yet there are creative, practical, and easy ways to intervene in teletherapy that go beyond talk therapy. The Therapist's Notebook for Systemic Teletherapy: Creative Interventions for Effective Online Therapy provides systemic teletherapy activities and interventions for a variety of topics and presenting problems. Forty chapters are arranged into seven parts: setup and preparation, self of the therapist, children and adolescents, adults, intimate relationships, families, and training and supervision. Leading experts provide step-by-step guidelines on setup, instructions, processing, and suggestions for follow-up for interventions that are grounded within foundational therapy theories, models, and evidence-based practice. This book explores both new intervention strategies and ways to adapt in-person therapy interventions for telehealth. This book provides creative inspiration and practical advice for novice and experienced family therapists, clinical social workers, counselors, play therapists, psychologists, psychiatrists, and others in related fields. Mental Health Nursing
