

Chicago Manual of Style 17th Edition

This guide provides examples of documenting material according to the Chicago Manual of Style. The Chicago style of documentation is used in some humanities and social sciences disciplines, including History, Classics and Anthropology. Instead of in-text citations, the Chicago style uses footnotes¹ or endnotes² and a Bibliography which lists all of the cited references at the end of the document. The notes and bibliographic citations are not formatted the same, and both are required.
