

Punctuality vs Procrastination

Punctuality is considered to be the noblest of virtues. It is the mark of civilized and cultured people. It is the habit of doing things in correct time. 'A stitch in time saves nine', so says an English proverb. Doing things in time, thus, saves us from unnecessary troubles. That is exactly what punctuality is synonymous to. Whereas, the adage procrastination 'is the thief of time' should ring a bell for everyone. Time is an essential aspect of life for every human being. Time once lost, is lost forever. If unfortunate, one will never acquire opportunities again and maybe lucky, one will attain better chances in life, but the same opportunity that one obtains in that particular moment will be lost forever.

One of the great values of punctuality is that it gives discipline to life. We have to get up in time. We have to do things at the appointed time. All these entails certain amount of sacrifice. It dispels laziness and removes our 'take-it-easy- attitude'. A disciplined person always gets recognition and social acceptance. He is wanted and appreciated. Therefore, punctuality can make us socially acceptable people. Another significant merit of punctuality is that it provides ample time to do our work correctly and properly. Doing things hurriedly or haphazardly can have disastrous consequences. When we do things in time there is every chance that they end up as fine works.

In fact, a punctual man, however busy or engaged, finds time for more work still. On the contrary, an unpunctual man, or a man who procrastinates far from doing much, cannot finish his normal duties even. So the virtue of punctuality makes all our activities and works good and satisfactory, if not perfect and excellent. Besides, it teaches us the habit of doing things correctly and in proper time.

The virtue of punctuality is said to be the key to success. Looking at the great world leaders who have achieved fame and success, punctuality was their hallmark. They kept their promises. Punctuality is a virtue that is appreciated by all. Washington once took his secretary to task for being late. The secretary laid the blame upon his watch. Washington reported: "Then, Sir either you must get a new watch or I must get a new secretary." People like them are ideals whom we should follow in earnest.
