Dil,2022-02-24 Haruki Murakami a global literary phenomenon has said that he started writing fiction as a means of self therapy What he has not discussed as much is what he needed self therapy for This book argues that by understanding more about why Murakami writes and by linking this with the question of how he writes readers can better understand what he writes Murakami s fiction in other words can be read as a search for self therapy In five chapters which explore Murakami s fourteen novels to date this book argues that there are four prominent therapeutic threads woven through Murakami s fiction that can be traced back to his personal traumas most notably Murakami s falling out with his late father and the death of a former girlfriend and which have also transcended them in significant ways as they have been transformed into literary fiction The first thread looks at the way melancholia must be worked through for mourning to occur and healing to happen the second thread looks at how symbolic acts of sacrifice can help to heal intergenerational trauma the third thread looks at the way people with avoidant attachment styles can begin to open themselves up to love again the fourth thread looks at how individuation can manifest as a response to nihilism Meticulously researched and written with sensitivity the result is a sophisticated exploration of Murakami s published novels as an evolving therapeutic project that will be of great value to all scholars of Japanese literature and culture Canon Reloaded Jacqueline Grassmayr,2013-06-25 Using student friendly language and an engaging thematic approach to bring the canon to life CANON RELOADED invites students to think about what we mean by the literary canon why it is created and how it might be challenged Students will encounter and respond to literary classics alongside contemporary texts and texts in translation as they explore how themes such as journeys love death and the world we live in recur across a variety of historical moments and literary movements Architecture in Contemporary Literature Nevnihal Erdoğan,Hikmet Temel Akarsu,2023-11-12 Architecture in Contemporary Literature artfully weaves the tapestry of architecture with the eloquence of modern literary masterpieces In this follow up to their earlier work on architecture in fictional literature the editors have carefully selected 31 significant works from contemporary world literature offering a fresh educational approach to literary critique and architecture This exploration allows readers to perceive life through the lens of architectural backgrounds Nature society humans and cities come to life through these chosen literary gems Extensive collaboration with architects intellectuals academics writers and thinkers culminates in the selection of influential works that guide present day architectural perspectives and aspirations The book promises to be a valuable reference for undergraduate and graduate students in architecture interior architecture urban planning fine arts humanities social sciences and various design disciplines Yet its appeal also extends to anyone with an appreciation for urban life and a desire for a broader understanding of the intricacies of architecture Whether you re an expert in design culture art sociology or literature or simply an avid learner Architecture in Contemporary Literature is a compelling exploration that deserves a prominent place on your bookshelf Engage with its pages and immerse yourself in the fusion of architectural insight and literary artistry Uncanny Perspectives in Literature and Culture Gabriele Biotti,I.
