

Review of J.A. Akinpelu, An Introduction to Philosophy of Education

E. P. BRANDON

Caribbean Journal of Education, 9: 152-160 (1982)¹

Can there be an introduction to X without an X to introduce? At first blush one might think not, but one should be forgiven for supposing that the philosophy of education proves one wrong. Here we have yet another Introduction to Philosophy of Education that introduces us to the introductions; when shall we ever find the real thing? It is true that there are a few genuine works in the genre, and we even have a volume in the Oxford Readings in Philosophy, but for all that the philosophy of education must have one of the highest ratios of introductions to real works of any area of human endeavour.

Akinpelu's excuse for further distending the relationship is that students in Nigeria have a hard time gathering together and making sense of the existing introductions, which are all geared to "first world" conditions and students, and which have in general dispensed with the obvious prescriptions of earlier generations. They are also hampered by the variety of topics that Nigerian examiners expect to be covered in a philosophy of education course. I am unable to judge how far Professor Akinpelu has succeeded in covering the standard Nigerian syllabus, though he certainly mentions a good number of different topics, and for no other reason that I can see; but in other respects his is an undistinguished contribution which appears to have missed most of the opportunities a genuinely non-Western focus would offer, and which contains too many inaccuracies and too much sloppiness for one to be happy recommending it to any students anywhere.² His claim to refocus the subject does, however, raise more compellingly the question of what contribution philosophy should make to the preparation of a teacher, and I shall attempt to address this question in the sequel.

But first to describe Akinpelu's own solution. After a short chapter on philosophy and how it might relate to education, he gives us two long chapters on "Educational Thinkers" (Plato, Aristotle, Isocrates, Quintilian, Comenius, Rousseau, Pestalozzi, Froebel, and Herbart, in chapter 2; Whitehead, James Africanus Beale Horton, Bishop James Johnson, E.W. Blyden, Henry Carr, and Nyerere, in chapter 3). He then treats "Schools of Philosophy of Education" – idealism, something he calls "realism", pragmatism (i.e. Dewey), and existentialism – before offering two chapters of philosophical analysis, one on a few of the standard concepts (education, teaching, and learning)

1 An Introduction to Philosophy of Education by J.A. Akinpelu, (Macmillan Nigeria, London and Basingstoke, 1981, pp. Xii & 252).

2 Philosophers should not be found claiming that the labels "pragmatism", "instrumentalism", "epidemicism" and "experimentalism" are really synonymous, as Akinpelu does on p. 142. Akinpelu's "realism" endorses common-sense, science, and objective values (p. 138) which has been impossible since Galileo and was awkward even for Aristotle. Talking of rights, Akinpelu says that if one has a right "someone else has a duty to provide what one is entitled to" which is immediately waved down to facilitating one's claims (p. 214); but even that is too much – if I have a claim right to do something, others have a duty to refrain from stopping me, but not necessarily any duty to positively facilitate my doing it. On the same page Akinpelu confuses the opportunity to take an examination with the chance or opportunity to pass it. If we must go in for "who was the best ...?", I would have thought Demosthenes stood a better chance as an orator than as a lawyer (p. 36) but this is to descend to trivia. Speaking of trivia, there are a few obvious misprints, and more seriously, a garbled paragraph on the bottom of p. 192.

An Introduction to Philosophy of Education J. A. Akinpelu, 1981 African Philosophy and Thought Systems

Munyaradzi Mawere, R. Mubaya, 2016-01-21 The once acrimonious debate on the existence of African philosophy has come of age yet the need to cultivate a culture of belonging is more demanding now than ever before in many African societies The gargantuan indelible energised chicanery waves of neo colonialism and globalisation and their sweeping effect on Africa demand more concerted action and solutions than cul de sac discourses and magical realism It is in view of this realisation that this book was born This is a vital text for understanding contextual historical trends in the development of African philosophic ideas on the continent and how Africans could possibly navigate the turbulent catadromous waters tangled webs and chasms of destruction and chagrin of struggles that have engrossed Africa since the dawn of slavery and colonial projects on the continent The book aims to generate more insights and influence national continental and global debates in the field of philosophy It is accessible and handy to a wider range of readers ranging from educators and students of African philosophy anthropology African studies cultural studies and all those concerned with the further development of African philosophy and thought systems on the African continent African Governance and Development Issues in a World of Change Ikechukwu Anthony Kanu, Catherine Chiugo Kanu, Kanayo Nwadiakor, 2018-08-16 The present work is part of the outcome of the 2018 International Conference of the Association for the Promotion of African Studies which had the theme African ideologies in a world of change Heraclitus of Ephesus an ancient philosopher and one of the important thinkers in human history said that change is the basic law of nature and the condition of all things All things are in a state of flux You cannot step twice into the same river for just as water in a river is ceaselessly changing so are all things in a state of flux In relation to Africa's historical experience Alik Shahadah observes that Africa is a continent where cultures have smashed through deserts crossed trade routes traveled through immigration borders disregarding her notions of geography and race and names foods cultures religions genetics have jumped between Asia and Africa etc with blatant disregard for our social constructions The Association for the Promotion of African Studies in her 2018 international conference provided a context for African scholars to study African ideologies in a world of change especially as it concerns politics and development in Africa from a variety of points of view This piece which is a collection of academic papers from seventeen scholars focuses on the processes of change and disorganization of the various traditional social and cultural patterns and organizations and then on the possible recrystallization of some traditional elements within the more modern and differentiated societies African Perspectives on Reshaping Rural Development Mafukata, Mavhungu Abel, Tshikolomo, Khathutshelo Alfred, 2019-11-22 Development studies in developing regions such as Southern Africa rely heavily on materials developed by Europeans with a European context European dominance in development studies emanates from the fact that the discipline was first developed by Europeans Some argue that this has led to distortions in theory and practice of development in Southern Africa This book wishes to begin Africa's expedition to develop proper material to de-Westernize while Africanizing the context of the scholarship of rural development. African Perspectives on Reshaping Rural Development is an essential reference source that repositions the context of rural development studies from the Western-centric knowledge system into an African context in order to solve African-centered problems. Featuring research on topics such as food security, poverty reduction, and community engagement, this book is ideally designed for planners, researchers, practitioners, policymakers, government officials, academicians, and students seeking clarity on theory and practice of development in Africa.

Transcultural Blended Learning and Teaching in Postsecondary Education Jean Francois, Emmanuel, 2012-08-31 Schedule constraints and other complicating factors can make face-to-face educational methods inadequate to the needs of learners. Thus, blended learning has emerged as a compromise that reconciles the need for high-tech and high-touch learning and teaching interactions. Transcultural Blended Learning and Teaching in Postsecondary Education educates readers across nations and cultures and strengthens their understanding of theories, models, research, applications, best practices, and emerging issues related to blended learning and teaching through a holistic and transcultural perspective. This research volume serves as a valued resource for faculty, administrators, and leaders in postsecondary institutions to plan, develop, implement, and evaluate blended learning programs and courses. It also provides researchers with the latest research in transcultural blended learning and teaching theories, findings, best practices, and emerging trends.

Africa and Sustainable Global Value Chains Regina Frei, Sherwat Ibrahim, Temidayo Akenroye, 2022-02-07 This book contains a collection of studies on the interactions between businesses in Africa and Global Value Chains (GVCs) in terms of social, environmental, and economic sustainability. This is particularly pertinent given the asymmetrical power distribution between the global buyer and the African supplier, their governance relationships, and the ongoing competitive pressures to reduce costs and increase flexibility to meet GVC demands. Rather than focusing on the sustainability of a single organization, GVCs address the sustainability of inter-firm value chains and global industries as a whole. With little differentiation between value chain creation and social environmental degradation extending to people and raw material extraction upstream and disposal or recycling downstream, sustainability issues need to be at the forefront of African business research interests. Nowadays, sustainability is considered a competitive advantage for a firm looking to join a GVC. Whether sustainability is approached from the viewpoint of an exporting firm motivated to join a GVC in its respective industry or whether a firm's continuing contractual or collaborative relationship with a buyer depends on its compliance with sustainability standards, both approaches focus on the ability of firms in Africa to benefit from joining sustainable GVCs.

Global Citizenship Education in the Global South, 2022-10-31 This volume presents a critical discussion that brings contemporary academic debate about southern theory to Global Citizenship Education (GCE). It situates the discussion around GCE in the Global South within a critical and post-colonial paradigm informed by the values and knowledge of critical pedagogy ingrained in social justice. Global Citizenship

Education in the Global South invites the reader into chapters written by educators exploring analysing and celebrating ideas and concepts on GCE in the Global South The book is presented as a pedagogical tool for discussion that invites educators to reflect critically on the possible origins and implications of GCE discourses they are exposed to The book is designed with the intent to contribute towards the possibility of imagining a yet to come critical transformative and post colonial and value creating GCE curriculum beyond a westernised market oriented and apolitical practices towards a more sustainable paradigm based on principles of mutuality and reciprocity Nigerian Journal of Research in Education ,2013-07

The Struggle for Development and Democracy: A General Theory Alessandro Olsaretti,2023-03-13 In The Struggle for Development and Democracy Alessandro Olsaretti argues that we need significantly new theories of development and democracy to answer the problem posed by neoliberalism and the populist backlash namely uneven development and divisive politics heightened by the 9 11 attacks This volume proposes a general theory of development and democracy as part of a unified theory of power emphasizing that development needs markets civil society and the state and also the proper networks and interactions amongst markets civil society and the state Imperialism undermines these interactions and turns countries into providers of cheap land or labour This book begins to sketch the mechanisms at work and to answer one question how did imperialist elites build their power All royalties from sales of this volume will go to GiveWell org in honour of Alessandro Olsaretti s memory Rural Community Libraries in Africa: Challenges and Impacts Dent, Valeda F.,Goodman, Geoff,Kevane, Michael,2014-01-31 This book investigates the relationship between local libraries and community development from the historical roots of rural libraries to their influence on the literacy economy and culture of the surrounding region Provided by publisher Healthcare Education in Nigeria Joseph A. Balogun,2020-12-30 This book provides a comprehensive and authoritative assessment of the training of health professionals in Nigeria looking back to how health care education has evolved in the country over time before investigating new and emerging trends The book begins with a discussion of the fundamentals of health care education the art of teaching health care students and modeling professionalism in health care The book highlights the work of pioneer Nigerian health care academics and explores the administration of health care education at departmental level Finally it highlights the role of elite Nigerian health care academics in the diaspora chronicles contemporary challenges in health care education and makes recommendations for reform This book will be of interest to students scholars and practitioners working on health care education in Africa
