Every chronic pain condition has a treatable myofascial trigger point component including fibromyalgia. The central sensitization of fibromyalgia amplifies symptoms that trigger points cause and this book teaches care providers and patients how to identify and treat those causes. Chronic myofascial pain due to trigger points can be body wide and can cause or maintain fibromyalgia central sensitization. Trigger points can cause and or maintain or contribute to many types of pain and dysfunction including numbness and tingling fibromyalgia irritable bowel syndrome plantar fasciitis osteoarthritis cognitive dysfunctions and disorientation impotence incontinence loss of voice pelvic pain muscle weakness menstrual pain TMJ dysfunction shortness of breath and many symptoms attributed to old age or atypical or psychological sources. Trigger point therapy has been around for decades but only recently have trigger points been imaged at the Mayo Clinic and National Institutes of Health. Their ubiquity and importance is only now being recognized. Devin Starlanyl is a medically trained chronic myofascial pain and fibromyalgia researcher and educator as well as a patient with both of these conditions. She has provided chronic pain education and support to thousands of patients and care providers around the world for decades.
