Transnational Communities Marie-Laure Djelic, Sigrid Quack, 2010-05-20 Transnational communities are social groups that emerge from mutual interaction across national boundaries oriented around a common project or imagined identity This common project or identity is constructed and sustained through the active engagement and involvement of at least some of its members Such communities can overlap in different ways with formal organizations but in principle they do not need formal organization to be sustained This book explores the role of transnational communities in relation to the governance of business and economic activity It does so by focusing on a wide range of empirical terrains including discussions of the Laleli market in Istanbul the institutionalization of private equity in Japan the transnational movement for open content licenses and the mobilization around environmental certification These studies show that transnational communities can align the cognitive and normative orientations of their
